Soviet Forces Drive Ahead On Leningrad Battlefront

Russian Troops Storming Ahead Below Leningrad

"Complete Defeat And Collapse" Believed Facing Nazi Force Of 250,000

NOVGOROD CAPTURE DOOMS MANY NAZIS

By NATALIA RENE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Jan. 21.—Gen. Leonid A. Govorov's advancing Russian troops stormed forward today to tear vital gaps in the 10-mile deep German ring below Leningrad and threaten enemy armies in that area with wholesale disaster.

Dispatches from the battlefront said the German possibly 250,000 troops, faced "complete defeat and collapse" as a three-pronged drive by Govorov's men blasted ever deeper into the crumbling enemy lines.

Kill 40,000 Germans

In the first six days of their offensive which virtually lifted the siege of Leningrad and captured the ancient fortress city of Novgorod, Russian armies in the far north killed upwards of 40,000 German troops. Then they set about the grim task of wiping out large pockets of encircled Nazis.

Together with troops under Gen. Urit A. Tmeretskov, the Govorov army threatened a quarter-million German soldiers with one of the war's worst disasters.

Among early developments in the battle southeast of Leningrad was

Nazis Still Resist Strongly In Ukraine

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Noted Military Analyst)
(Written Especially for I. N. S.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Once again the thunder of Stalin's victory cannon roars out through the squares of Moscow. Novgorod, slightly more than a hundred miles southeast of Leningrad, has fallen to onrushing Red assault troops. And Lake Ilmen has been crossed by Soviet units.

The siege of Leningrad was relieved a year ago, but Nazi troops still circle that city to the south within heavy artillery range and a German salient has been maintained with its eastern point just south of Lake Ladoga. That salient has cut the main railroad line from Leningrad to Moscow and one secondary line. A third rail communication coming in from the east is open to Russian travel, but it runs perilously close to the German front lines. In other words, it is great strategical importance that the Nazi salient to the south and east of Leningrad be eliminated.

Threatening Flank

The Red wedge driven into the Nazi line at Novgorod threatens to flank the salient just described. Soviet troops have held a small bridgehead for some time past on the west bank of the Volkhov river, which connects Lake Ilmen in the south with Lake Ladoga in the north. That bridgehead is to the British Submarine Penetrates Deep Into Enemy Waters In Pacific Zone

THREE SUPPLY SHIPS ARE ALSO SENT DOWN

By JOHN E. LEE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The admiralty disclosed today that a British submarine, penetrating deep into enemy waters not far from Singapore, has sunk a Japanese cruiser of the Kuma class with two well-placed torpedoes.

The submarine, also credited with sinking three supply ships, successfully eluded a Japanese destroyer afterwards.

The action took place in the Malacca straits, at the northern approaches, between the Malaya peninsula, part of the British empire, and the huge Dutch island of Sumatra, both now occupied by the Japanese.

Vessel Of 5,1000 Tons

Vessels of the Kuma class are listed in Jane's Fighting Ships as second class cruisers of 5,100 tons, with peacetime complements of 439 officers and men. The first of the class was constructed in 1919, and

Farewell Ceremonies Conducted For Men Leaving To Begin Army Duties

Men who were accepted for service in the U. S. Army at the Pittsburgh Induction Center left Thursday evening from the Pennsylvania station on the West Side to begin their army duties, and a large crowd of relatives and friends was on hand to see them off.

The usual farewell ceremonies were conducted with Carl E. Turner, president of the Lawrence County Service Men's Aid committee of the U.S.O. presiding. The men were addressed briefly by Charles E. Allen in behalf of the committee, and the customary prayer was said by Capt. E. Andreasen of the Salvation Army.

The men were presented with the kits and other gifts from the U.S.O.

The men who were accepted for duty in the Navy left the week following their induction, representing approximately half of the men accepted for service.

In last night's group were the first Pre-Pearl Harbor fathers called up for service under the new ruling and many touching scenes were reported as these men said farewell to their families.

PREMIER TOJO WARNS JAPAN

LONDON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Premier Hideki Tojo warned the Japanese Diet today that the nation must be prepared for difficulties that "will become more and more severe".

There is "only a hair's breadth," he said, between final victory and defeat, according to the Domei agency.

Losses that the Japanese are suffering at sea cannot be minimized, the premier acknowledged.

"The government," he said, "is endeavoring to reduce shipping losses.

"Aircraft production was doubled last year."

Tojo also said that the Japanese food situation was good.

ALGIERS, Jan. 21.—Powerful units of the British battle fleet were disclosed today to have bombarded Nazi shore positions along the Tyrrhenian sea in support of Tommies storming into strategic Minturno, capture of which was announced officially at Allied headquarters.

With both cruisers and destroyers turning their deadly fire on Germans ranged along the coastal strip, British elements of the Fifth Army battered their way forward to seize the lower anchor of the enemy's defense line from the Tyrrhenian.

Still other units of the Mediterranean battle fleet prowled the Adriatic to carry out new and punish-

Dr. G. S. Bennett Is Re-Elected As President For Ensuing Year

HEAR ADDRESS BY WESTMINSTER HEAD

At the annual meeting of the Lawrence County Council, Boy Scouts of America, which was preceded by a dinner in the First U. P. church, Thursday evening, Dr. G. S. Bennett was re-elected president of the council for the ensuing year.

The attendance was exceptionally good, with 159 being served and several had to take dinner elsewhere because of a lack of accommodations at the church.

The report of Frank Goff, chairman of organization and extension showed that on December 31, there were 40 troops, with 1011 scouts, four cub packs, with 83 cubs; two explorer patrols, with 12 explorers; one air scout patrol, with eight air scouts; and one emergency service corps, with 21 members on the rolls, an increase over last year.

National Award

One of the features of the meeting was the presentation of the national award of the Silver Beaver to Hans N. Drio, who has served during the past year as secretary of the board. This award is made on the recommendation of the local executive board to a scouter for outstanding service during the year, and the presentation usually comes as a surprise at the annual meeting.

Dr. Robert Galbreath, president of Westminster college, was the speaker of the evening and gave an inspiring talk on the effectiveness of the Boy Scout program in the community, and urged his hearers to not forget the need for a constructive program for our youth at home.

U. S. Submarines Sink 12 More Jap Supply Vessels

Navy Announces New Inroads On Jap Shipping In Far Pacific

TOTAL SUB VICTIMS NOW BOOSTED TO 558

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The navy announced today that American long-range submarines have sunk 12 more Japanese supply ships in forays throughout the Pacific and Far East.

Included in the latest sinkings were one large tanker one medium cargo transport, one small transport, seven medium freighters and two small freighters.

Boost Total To 558

These sinkings boosted to 558 the total number of Japanese vessels of all types sunk, probably sunk and damaged by American submarines since the outbreak of war.

The total figure includes 408 vessels sunk, 36 probably sunk and 114 damaged.

The American announcement followed closely a statement by the British that one of the empire's submarines had sunk a Japanese 5,000 ton cruiser in the northern approaches to the Malacca Straits.

May Be Shifting Ships

The disclosure by Britain indicated that English submarines and possibly warships were being transferred from the European area to the Far East for increased pressure against the Japanese.

Recently Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the U. S. fleet and chief of naval operations, told reporters that Allied power would be shifted from the European to the Pacific war zone even before the defeat of Germany.

War Bond Sales Total $796,036 In Day's Report

Lawrence county picked up a little more of its Fourth War Bond quota in the past 24 hours, according to figures released by Roger W. Jewett, deputy executive director of the campaign. The totals at noon today are $796,036.75, of which $607,124.50 comes from New Castle and $188,912.25 comes from the areas outside the city.

The total subscriptions show a high number for this far in the campaign, but the average per subscription is not high. New Castle shows 2,445 subscribers and the outside areas 1,376 subscribers.

Diplomat's Wife Fatally Shot In Chicago Mystery

Mystery fatal shooting of Mrs. Adele Born Williams, wealthy member of an old Chicago family and wife of a Washington diplomat, is being investigated by Chicago police. Mrs. Williams, wife of Frank Starr Williams, inset, attache of the U. Chicago Police Seek To Question First Wife Of Chicago Man In Second Wife's Death

MRS. F. S. WILLIAMS DIES OF WOUND

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The first wife of Frank Starr Williams, American career diplomat, was sought by Chicago police today for questioning following the death last night of his second wife of a gunshot wound inflicted by an unidentified woman.

The woman sought in Chicago's most bizarre and intriguing murder mystery in a decade is Mrs. Mable Macher, from whom Williams was divorced prior to his marriage to the former Adele Swabaker Born, member of a wealthy family, in Nov. 1936.

Police broadcast a teletype message asking aid in locating Mrs. Macher after it was learned she had left a Baltimore convalescent home Jan 12.

Three Jap Ships Are Destroyed By U. S. Bomber Raids

Yankee Fliers Also Shoot Down Or Damage 49 Jap Planes In Latest Attacks

BI AMMUNITION SHIP IS BLOWN UP

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS IN NEW GUINEA, Jan. 21.—American airmen who carried out a new series of punishing raids against the enemy strongholds of Wewak, New Guinea, and Rabaul, New Britain, boasted today a record of nearly ten-to-one in Japanese aircraft battered during the assaults.

Get 49 Enemy Planes

The Yankee fliers were credited with destroying or damaging 49 enemy planes during the twin raids, while losing only five of their own.

Other damage inflicted on the Japanese in the New Guinea-New Britain are included the destruction of three enemy ships, including one 5,000-ton ammunition ship which blew up after it was hit by American bombers.

More than 100 American fighter planes of all types escorted four-motored Liberators of the 5th U. S. Air Force as they roared in over the target at Wewak, on the northeastern New Guinea coast. The raiders showered 123 tons of high explosives

Vital Airfields In Rome Sector Bomber Targets

Fleets Of Allied Bombers Continue To Blast Nazi-Held Airdromes

By LARRY NEWMAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALGIERS, Jan. 21.—Fleets of allied bombers, led by four-motored American Flying Fortresses, continued their devastating attacks upon enemy airfields in the Rome area during the last 24 hours by showering high explosive and incendiary bombs upon vital dromes near the Italian capital.

Ciampino and Contocello, both serving the immediate Rome area, underwent their second blistering attack within 48 hours, while the sprawling Guidonia network also was plastered with bomb craters.

Heavily Attacked

The twin Ciampino dromes 10 miles south of Rome echoed to the crash of bursting fragmentation packets which covered the entire layout of fields and wrought heavy damage among important ground facilities. Many explosions were observed by crew members of B-17

Giant Armada Of R. A. F. Bombers Smashes Berlin

Gigantic Aerial Assault Is Made On German Capital During Night

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The attack on Berlin last night was carried out by the greatest number of British and Canadian bombers ever to assault the Reich capital, the quasi-official British Press Association declared today.

Although the squadrons were the strongest yet to raid Berlin, the bomb weight, estimated unofficially at nearly 2,500 American tons, was not the heaviest showered on the seared enemy capital.

By LEO V. DOLAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Jan. 21.—A giant armada of RAF bombers rocked Berlin during the night with what may have been the greatest aerial onslaught in history—more than 2,200 tons were estimated to have unloaded on the city—leaving the Nazi capital seared and blazing with countless fires.

The air ministry announced today that 35 bombers failed to return from the devastating "saturation" raid—11th since Nov. 18 and 105th on Berlin since the war began.

In applying the torch again to a city already battered almost beyond recognition from terrific sledge-hammer blows, the RAF bombers left smoke swirling high into the sky from innumerable fires.

Very Heavy Attack

The attack was officially described by the air ministry's bomber command as "very heavy."

The federal communications commission reported that the Bremen radio left the air at 11:20 a. m. today (German time) and the Hilversum radio in Holland at 11:23 a. m., indicating the possibility of further

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Harry L. Hopkins, presidential adviser, testified for ten minutes today before a federal grand jury investigating Washington's famous letter forging mystery.

Upon leaving the grand jury room Hopkins reasserted to reporters that his purported letter to Dr. Umphrey Lee of Southern Methodist university is a forgery, and, he added, "I think I know who the forger is."

Hopkins told reporters that while he could not divulge what he had told the grand jury, he could repeat what he had said before—that the letter is a forgery.

squadrons which conducted the assault, protected by a swarm of long-range fighters.

Also hit for the second successive day was the Contocello drome, while the Guidonia field, hit frequently in the past, was blasted heavily after enjoying a brief respite.

(The Nazi-operated Rome radio claimed the Port Maggiore and Prenestino regions of the capital were damaged by direct bomb bursts during the attack and asserted that several buildings suffered direct hits.)

One Nazi interceptor was shot down during the Ciampino raid, which reconnaissance photographs subsequently showed was "very greatly" damaged during its two assaults.

Meanwhile, B-24 Liberators attacked the Guidonia airfield, ploughing runways with bomb bursts and gutting important buildings with high explosives. The drome's dispersal areas were hit with fragmentation pellets.

Medium-weight Marauders returned to the Viterbo drome 40 miles above the capital city for the second straight day while speedy Invaders dipped low over sprawling rail yards nearby and showered them with light bombs.

Other squadrons of warplanes operated directly with allied troops along the flaming battlefront. Just west of Cassino, medium B-26s destroyed a rail bridge at Pontecervo.

Medium-weight Mitchells swung 30 miles northwest of Rome to attack a viaduct at Carsoli at the same time as Fortress formations hit the Contocello network in two waves, striking at 10-minute intervals. The landing field was described as "blanketed with hits", with sheds, hangars, repair shops and dumps catching the brunt of the assault. An interurban line erupted with large explosions, following which great fires were seen.

NAZIS STILL RESIST STRONGLY IN UKRAINE

north of Novgorod which has just been captured. It is probable that the combined advance of Soviet troops from this location can pinch off the salient to the south of Leningrad, but they can do little or nothing more.

The battlefields of the greatest importance are still those to the south in the Ukraine, and in that area the Nazis have been offering stubborn defense. The important Ukranian iron city of Krivoi Rog has resisted all Soviet attacks. To the east and south of that location, Nikopol on the Dnieper has done the same. The extreme eastern finger of German locations, which still extends to the Dnieper river at the Apex of the bend, has an escape corridor that is about 30 miles wide. But from that area westward the Nazis have held the Red armies to the north, leaving ample distance for withdrawal.

Soviet Versatility

The wonderful versatility of the Soviet high command, whereby it can shift its offensive actions from one end of its battle line to the other, has up to now thrown the German general staff off balance as to where the next Red assault might come. And at the same time it has permitted the Soviet supreme command to check up other offensive drives long enough to accomplish their replenishment. However, it must be realized that Nazi troops now in the southern and eastern portion of the Ukraine have apparently dug in for desperate all-out resistance. They are not only holding locations of key importance, but they are keeping open space for withdrawal and that space contains many railroad lines.

It would appear as practically a certainty that we will shortly witness renewed Soviet blows in the south aimed at cutting all of the railroads still in German possession, and at driving an arm of attack southward to cut off and entrap all Nazi troops now in the eastern portion of the big bend of the Dnieper.

As the result of America's submarine campaign the Japanese have had to resort in recent weeks to using sea-going barges in an effort to move reinforcements and supplies into the southwest Pacific war zone.

The plight of Japan's shipping situation was brought to the foreground again only yesterday when Secretary of War Stimson expressed the belief that the Japanese were using barges in an effort to evacuate some of their forces from the northern New Guinea coast.

GIANT ARMADA OF R. A. F. BOMBERS SMASHES BERLIN

attacks on the Reich. The Friesland radio failed to begin broadcasting at all at 11 a. m., as scheduled.)

While the RAF big bombers blistered Berlin once more, wooden Mosquito bombers attacked targets in northwest Germany, and sowed "many" mines in enemy waters.

The Evening Standard, estimated that 2,200 tons and perhaps more were dropped on Berlin, said that explosives were unloosed on the Nazi capital at the rate of 112 tons every minute.

RAF fighter-bombers swept over the channel today in the wake of the 11th "saturation" raid since Nov. 18 and the 105th attack on the German capital since the war began. Northern France was declared to be the target of today's new aerial blows.

Other Targets Hit

The authoritative British Press Association described the night attack on Berlin as "particularly heavy, carried out by very large forces."

As the main forces hit the capital, speedy Mosquito bombers were understood to have stung other targets during the night.

It would not be surprising, the association said, to learn that the battered German capital, vast areas of which already have been laid waste by mighty RAF onslaughts, received a greater weight in bombs than in any previous attack.

The raid was the first major assault on Berlin in 18 days as the RAF resumed its systematic destruction of the city.

First official announcement today of the newest in a series of saturation raids gave no details, but the scope of the night onslaught was reflected by the Authoritative Press Association's statement that "hundreds" of planes roared over the channel—in such force it took the formations 45 minutes to pass a given spot.

First announcement that Berlin once more had been the target for the RAF, which already has dumped about 14,000 tons of bombs on the metropolis, came from the German overseas news agency.

Nazi military authorities were quoted as calling the newest RAF blow on the debris-littered capital already said to be two thirds destroyed, a "terror raid," the term they usually use as a label for the major attacks on Berlin.

After first stating that the number of British planes shot down during the attack was not yet known, the overseas agency later reported that 21 of the attackers were destroyed.

WESTERN BOSNIA TOWN IS RETAKEN BY TITO'S FORCES

Germans Driven Out

The Mrkonji Grad-Glamoc area is a sector approximately 30 miles long, fanning out from northwest to southwest of Jajce and guarding the approaches to the latter town.

"In the Rama sector," the Yugoslav bulletin added, "the Germans succeeded temporarily in penetrating in Prozor, but were immediately driven out."

Prozor lies in Bosnia, very close to the border of Herzegovina province.

In eastern Bosnia, meanwhile, the Partisans were in possession of the Kreka and Zivinica mines. The pits were occupied "after successful fighting" which still is progressing in the Doboj - Tuzla - Znornik areas.

Particularly fierce enemy opposition is being encountered at Tuzla in the very heart of northern Yugoslavia, where street fighting was reported.

BRITISH FLEET UNITS BOMBARD NAZIS ON SHORE

ing bombardments of German positions on their side of the enemy's Italian defense line.

Support Troops

Cruisers and destroyers of the Royal navy opened the naval bombardment Tuesday by turning their heavy guns on the Terracina area of the Gulf of Gaeta in support of British troops which on the following day opened three bridgeheads across the Garigliano river.

For 48 hours the vessels stood offshore at intervals and lobbed tons of steel and explosives just back of the town itself.

Highways along which the Nazis were attempting to deploy their troops were churned by bursting shells as the cruisers especially ripped into the enemy communications network with heavy force. Several hundred rounds were fired by the half-dozen or so warships participating. Only one vessel was damaged slightly by return fire and its crew suffered no casualties.

Highways Near Shore

Near Terracina the main enemy highways come down to the shore, open to naval bombardment of this type. No immediate details were given of the Adriatic operations.

The capture of Minturno, which resulted from operations supported in large measure by the warships, came after heavy fighting. Official British spokesmen announced that 300 German prisoners have been taken in the Garigliano sector of the western coast during the last few days.

While the British forced into Minturno, only two miles inland from Italy's west coast and astride the ancient Appian way to Rome, American forces in the central sector of the Fifth Army front continued to stab at Nazi positions with large-scale patrol thrusts. German vanguards managed to recross the Rapido river temporarily, but were sent scurrying back across the stream by the doughboys' counterattacks.

New Defense Line

Nazi prisoners meanwhile revealed that enemy commanders have set up a new defense line six miles west of Cassino, known as the Adolf Hitler line.

French troops meanwhile increased their pressure against the Germans at the northern end of the Fifth Army front, crossing the upper reaches of the Rapidio and capturing Mount Il Lago about a mile northwest of San Elia. Capture of the height was viewed as of exceptional importance because the enemy's Gustav line in this region follows the rived into Cassino.

Thus the capture constitutes a direct threat to the northern flank of the Gustav line protecting Cassino itself, the main barrier on the road to Rome in this area.

In their fighting, the Frnech encountered elements of the enemy's third Panzer and Fifth Mountain divisions. The Panzers were brought up to reinforce the hard-pressed Nazis. Prisoners taken from the Mountain divisions said that conditions on the Italian front were much worse than at Leningrad, where they were before being transferred to positions opposite the Fifth Army.

Fierce Fighting

Five miles inland from Minturno, the British tommies engaged the enemy in fierce fighting on the outskirts of strongly-fortified Castelforte.

The Algiers radio, meanwhile, indicated that the American portion of the Fifth Army was making progress in its effort to crack the barrier to Cassino. The Yanks crossed the Rapido river at the northern end of the Gustav line, the broadcast said.

(The bombardment by British warships provoked slight return fire from enemy shore batteries and only minor damage was suffered by one vessel, Allied spokesmen declared.

Other destroyer units, operating in the Adriatic, returned to the recently-bomberded island of Korcula to blast Vela Luku, these sources revealed.

Also hit during the two-pronged naval engagement was the harbor of Terracina, some 25 airline miles northwest of Naples. The city was hit twice—first on Tuesday and then on Wednesday, the official statement disclosed.

"All-Out To Reach Rome"

(Several hundred rounds were fired in the bombardment of enemy shore positions along the Tyrrhenian coast, which officials described as "fairly heavy."

Along the Tyrrhenian sea, the 94th German Division, many members of which never had seen action before, was bearing the brunt of the fighting against British elements of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's army battering their way toward Rome, 76 miles from Minturno.

(Reuter's quoted the Nazi-operated Rome radio as saying that Clark is going "all out" to reach Rome, following evacuation of Minturno. The British were said to have launched numerous attacks on new German positions north of Minturno, but that in a daylong battle British ranks had been unable to pierce the enemy lines.)

In prospect as fighting on the north side of the Garigliano increased in intensity was a vicious battle for strategic Mount Arunci, a 3,000 foot peak toward which the attackers are advancing slowly.

Dog Quarantine In New Wilmington

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 21.—Because of the recent "mad dog scare", the New Wilmington borough council, board of health and police department have invoked a quarantine on all dogs for 100 days. The action came as a result of a special meeting of the three agencies Tuesday.

Notices are to be posted throughout the corporate limits and orders have been issued that all dogs running loose during the quarantine period will be shot.

THREE JAP SHIPS ARE DESTROYED BY U. S. BOMBER RAIDS

on the Boram airdrome at Wednesday noon, despite interception efforts of 50 Japanese Zero planes.

At least 12, and possibly 14, of the enemy fighters were downed in furious air battles which cost the Americans three fighters.

Large Explosions

"Large explosion and fires were caused in supply dumps," said an official communique," and the entire target area was blanketed with smoke rising 5,000 feet and visible 90 miles."

When a strong force of Mitchell Bombers, with fighter escort, attacked Rabaul in a midday assault Tuesday they were met by a sizeable group of enemy interceptors. The Americans shot down 21 and possibly 22 of this formation, and destroyed one plane on the ground at Tobera airdrome. Twelve other grounded aircraft were damaged.

Heavy bombers followed up the raid by "harassing" operations against the nearby Lakunai and Vunakanau airdromes, where fires were started in night assaults. Two of the American planes were lost in the Tobera raid.

Ammunition Ship Caught

The ammunition ship, possibly intended for the Wewak garrison, was caught off Lorengau in the Admiralty islands. This archipelago lies some 200 miles northeast of Wewak. Along with the munition vessel, a 2,000-ton enemy freighter was sunk.

Night patrols over Hansa Bay on New Guinea accounted for the third ship, a 3,000-ton freighter which was destroyed with a "direct hit".

Meanwhile, other Allied planes supported ground troops in New Guinea, dropping 70 tons of bombs on targets along the upper Faria river and strafing enemy positions effectively.

"Around Sio, our ground forces continue mopping up enemy stragglers," added the communique.

Ten enemy barges were hit by American raiders in the Rein bay and Arwa sectors of New Britain, while enemy aircraft ineffectively raided our positions at Arawe and Saldor, on New Guinea.

In Memoriam

COULD USE 'CHUTES

PITTSBURGH — (INS) — Taxi terminology may change after the war. It won't be advisable to say "Drop me off in Dormont" when cab service includes the use of helicopters. The Yellow Cab Company has asked the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission's approval of a post-war plan to operate helicopters in Allegheny county as common carriers. The air taxis would operate between the airport and downtown Pittsburgh and in other sectors within the county, officials said.

JUNIOR HADASSAH HEARS BOOK REVIEW

Highlight on Thursday evening of a meeting of Junior Hadassah at the home of Miss Betty Aronson, Boyles avenue, was a review of Pierre van Paassen's latest book "The Forgotten Ally."

This was interestingly presented by Mrs. L. K. Kohn, honorary president of Senior Hadassah. The 'forgotten ally' is Palestinian Jewry whose contributions to the British 8th Army have been the best-kept secret of the present war, according to Mr. van Paassen.

During business, over which Miss Rose Katz presided, plans were concluded for Junior Hadassah's main event of the year, a card party which will be held Tuesday evening February 1, at Tifereth Israel synagogue.

Miss Phyllis Cohen was chairman of a social period later. Refreshments were served by the hostess and her mother.

MARIE E. CRAY WEDS PFC. JAMES AUSEM

Simplicity and beauty characterized a military wedding that took place in the Division Artillery Chapel at Camp McCain, Miss., on January 14, at the 9 o'clock, mass, when Miss Marie Eleanor Cray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Cray, 919 Winslow avenue, this city, became the bride of Pfc. James Walter Ausem, son of Mrs. Dora Gilmore 926 Winslow avenue.

AMERICA'S FIRST GLOBAL AIR HERO

HEROES are not lacking in this war, we're glad to say. But there's always an added thrill when a new hero zooms over the horizon, and that's a good thing, too. Right now it's Major James H. Howard, 6-foot-4 Missouri flier who dived alone ("I just seen what looked like my duty and I done it") into a pack of 30 Nazi fighters, knocked down a probable six of them and saved a lot of our bombers.

This self-effacing pilot—a week elapsed before his identity was learned—not only has distinguished himself in the war against Hitler but, before taking a hand in the European unpleasantness, made himself a considerable annoyance to Tojo. As a member of General Chennault's renowned Flying Tigers he accounted for six or more Japanese planes and was decorated by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

So it happens that, as America's first air hero of both the East and West, Major Howard rates our enthusiastic cheers. Remembering Colin Kelly, "Butch" O'Hare and a long line of other heroes who will never return home from the war, we hope and pray that Howard will be spared to come back at last to a country that is proud of every one of its fighting sons, whether famous or not.

WAR COSTS TO SPIRAL

The most costly period of the war against the Axis, insofar as lives, equipment and supplies are concerned, is about to begin. And it is the considered opinion of Allied military leaders that, while victory is ahead, America faces a long, hard fight.

It is pointed out that the United States has paid a low price so far in casualties and equipment compared with other nations engaged in the war, but that an increasingly important part of the fighting, both against the Germans and the Japanese, is now being done by the American armed forces. And as troops go overseas and into action, supply lines are lengthened and war becomes more destructive to equipment.

It has been estimated that when 100 men are sent overseas with 10 rifles, 60 more rifles must be shipped each year to replace those lost or damaged; for every 100 machine guns, 85 additional ones must be sent as replacements.

In a single day recently more than 60 Allied bombers were lost over Germany. It will take 1,000 airplane workers, employed 40 hours a week, an entire year to replace those losses.

The drive in Italy shows how heavy intense action wears out guns and equipment, trucks, tanks and even clothing. In the campaign in Sicily, American forces literally wore out in the first few weeks nearly a third of their 75 mm. guns, almost half of their 57 mm.'s and more than half of a particular type of gun mount. Many shoes that ordinarily would last a soldier three or four months in rough training were worn through in three days of heavy attack.

With the Italian campaign as a measure, one has only to consider how rapidly equipment will be used up in the mighty invasion of Western Europe to realize how costly the war will become in the immediate future.

ANOTHER VICTORY

One of America's industrial victories of this war has been the breaking of the German monopoly in optical instruments. Long famed in the art of designing and building sighting devices, lenses, reticles and optics of all sorts, Germans had the reputation of being magicians in that field. Until the war their optical instruments easily led the world in craftsmanship and precision.

When the flow of German imports to this country began dwindling in the late 1930s, it became apparent that the lack of sighting instruments would be a serious bottleneck if this country should be drawn into the conflict. The Army and the Navy began encouraging manufacture of precision optical instruments in the United States.

Since the war began American production in that field has increased 100 times. Women and youths are turning out, by mass production methods, products better than those of the German artisan who spent a lifetime learning his trade.

A complete German precision instrument is virtually the work of one man. An American instrument, as good or better, is the work of many people, each doing one small part of the whole. The American mass production system has triumphed again. It overcomes all obstacles, to the astonishment of the world.

INVASION PLANS ADVANCE

General Eisenhower, preparing for invasion of Europe, has appointed Lieut. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, a veteran of Tunisia and an experienced infantry commander, as senior American general under him in the European war theater. But the Allied western invasion commander-in-chief made it clear that preparations for the invasion were not just getting under way with his arrival.

General Eisenhower had warm praise for the work done by all service branches in advance of his reaching England and indicated that the pre-invasion task already is far advanced.

Meanwhile in Algiers British Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, Allied commander-in-chief in the Mediterranean, forecasts new blows in that theater. He said his front extends from the Maritsa river in the Balkans to the Pyrenees and added: ""We've got to hit home whenever we see the opportunity. If we saw an opportunity for going into Southern France, we should do so."

The words of the Allied commanders-in-chief in the western and Mediterranean areas stress the pressure which is building up against Germany from both west and south. The Allies aim, according to General Wilson, is to "bring the maximum pressure on the Germans whenever we can and with the maximum force we can use."

The Germans are already defending themselves with difficulty in the east. They are well aware that additional defense will be necessary in the west and south. It's the exact when and where that they would like to know. They may not have long to wait to find out the hard way.

Japan acquired those Pacific islands without much effort. Easy come, easy go.

Nazis want their pards, the Japs, to hit Russia. But, as Benjamin Franklin said, if you want a thing done right, do it yourself.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

ACQUIRING SERENITY IS NOT EASY

A few poised and calm mothers have jittery children, but jittery mothers don't have calm children. In these times of war with all its sorrows, worries and anxieties, the number of nervous mothers and children inevitably increases.

It's all very well to tell mothers to be calm, and for mothers to resolve to be so, but achievement of serenity is not always a very easy matter. Indeed, some mothers who seem to try hardest to control their nerves only grow more nervous.

Most mothers, however, might grow more serene were they to map out a long-range program of self-management. To this end I have written a special bulletin, "The Nervous Mother," to be had by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Let me relay here a few sentences from this bulletin:

Deal With Herself

The best way for a mother to deal with a nervous child is to deal with herself. Yet this is not always easy, since the jittery child tends to make the mother herself more jittery; since, moreover, the mother may have ill health, she may be over-weary nearly all the time and over-critical of her unsuccessful efforts to be more serene and to help the child become more calm. Perhaps nothing else stands so much in the way of the nervous mother's efforts to get herself in hand as her constant criticism of herself to herself and others.

1. First of all, have your doctor give you and your nervous child a complete check-over, and follow his advice.

2. Sit down and take stock of your job and consider ways in which you can reduce your hours of physical work and responsibilities.

3. Consider the things about the housekeeping program you can afford to neglect.

Nap Helpful

4. The wise mother of the tot takes an afternoon nap when he does, and her nap might do more to make him calm and good-natured for the rest of the day than his.

5. Every mother, especially the nervous mother, needs to have interests outside her house and family but interests which she will enjoy without worry and anxiety of that call for the expenditure of excessive energy and hours. (Some mothers are jittery and unfit to live with because they attempt to engage in too many civic activities.)

6. If you are religious, you will find some calming values from religion. If you are not religious, it might be worth your consideration.

7. Fewer mothers would be nervous if their husbands understood them better and were more considerate of them as persons.

8. Many mothers are nervous because they let small, unessential matters in their children overwhelm them and blind them to the big things. Some wear themselves out doing too much for their children and robbing them of self-reliance. Many mothers have grown jittery because they have not learned to control their children. Young mothers might desire to write me at 235 East 45th street, New York City., enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it and ask for my special bulletin on "How to Teach Tot the Meaning of No."

Solving Parent Problems

Q. How do you think that mothers' clubs and PTA's might best help curb juvenile delinquency?

A. By their members deciding on standards for controlling their children, each member feeling responsible not only for his own child but also for all other children who will imitate him. I should like to know about the first mothers' club or PTA to do this and just what their procedure or achievement has been.

Q. Some time ago you said in your column that we mothers should try to induce our sons to treat girls as they know they should. When I talked to my 16-year-old boy about it he replied, "Girls my age and younger don't want us to act toward them like gentlemen."

A. I wonder how widely this is true. Maybe the girls need better mothering also.

Games

Though very pleasant things to play,
Games are but games at best, I'd say.
And it's too bad when playing ends
In loss of self-respect and friends.

The Difficulty

So easily a war begins!
But when the cannons cease,
So hard to know which nation wins
And how adjust the peace.

Old Saying

My father said it o'er and o'er:
"Just do the best you can.
Angels are asked to do no more.
Life asks no more of man."

Weakling

Those resolutions good I made
Lie shattered in the dust.
'Twas ever so! Now I'm afraid
Myself I cannot trust.

Hints On Etiquette

Be friendly to people you meet in business, on cars and buses trains, etc. People need friendliness in these trying times. Do not be effusive, but just simply friendly.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:19. Sun rises tomorrow 8:33.

A lot of bad smells come along with garbage collection strikes, we hear.

There are women who always know their husbands will get drunk on pay-day.

Soldiers in armed forces should be given a chance to vote, and it should be made as easy as possible for them to do so.

A Pittsburgh man claims his overcoat and gloves were stolen while he was attending church. Sound the Alamo!

Though ocean liners of the future will be airplanes, some folks will still get seasick just looking down at the waves.

It will take more than a Leap Year to get some bachelors marriage proposals.

An Indiana burglar is charged with carrying off an 800-pound piano singlehanded. His muscles, apparently, were as powerful as his musical urge.

The fact of the matter is people will not know what to do after the war.

The new type spendthrift will be the fellow whose ration coupons are burning a hole in his pockets.

Rest satisfied with doing well, and leave others to talk of you as they please.

A good example is the best sermon.

A good stomach is the best sauce.

Looks like the advertising slogan, "Accept no substitutes" is frozen for the duration.

An hour may destroy what an age was building.

Love may be blind, but after marriage you may get it restored.

We know a chap who has gone to Arizona for his health. He lost his health by trying to earn enough money to go to Arizona.

A local chap told his doctor there was something wrong with his breathing, and the doctor told him he would soon put a stop to that.

Pilot of a rocket plane, we read, rides ahead of the sound of its noise. Sounds like a cure for backseat driving.

Hard luck is hard to shake off. Hi Hum says if he were in a big jewelry store when the lights went out it would be just his luck to be in the heavy bronze elephant department.

Peace is the period when bums say: "During the war I made—"

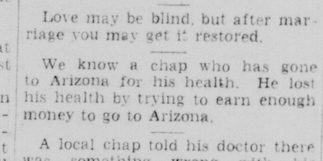

The one who urges you to forgive usually helps out by giving you something to practice on.

Each man is unique in one particular. He is the only male person who thinks his new baby pretty.

Blessed are those who aren't ashamed of what they do. They needn't make up lies to explain it.

Simile for today: As quickly as gossips lose interest in a widower when he marries again.

Blessed are the uncultured. They aren't ashamed to decorate their homes with the kind of pictures they really like.

Science has done wonders. Now if only it would perfect a device that would make the doctor feel exactly as you do.

No one knows what the will of his rich uncle will say, but he can make his heirs extremely happy by pretending to be seriously ill.

Mother was late with dinner yesterday, as usual, but for an entirely different reason. She had been downtown buying herself a pair of pants.

The first time the general gave an order to have the cannon moved is when they christened it "heavy artillery".

The employment agency which hires married men in preference to others has discovered that they are not so anxious to get home early.

About all you can say for a "social revolution" is that it makes a new class act arrogant and hateful.

After you hand over the proper number of precious points, you don't mind parting with a little mere money.

We can't believe any Harvard man prepared the income tax blank. Doesn't Harvard teach them to write English?

It is hard for a rich man to get into Heaven, but he can get into a lot of other places the rest of us can't enter.

Note on snobbery: Most people are astonished to discover that part of the refugees from enemy lands are common nobodies.

Friends are people who can drop in at dinner time and make it seem a delightful coincidence instead of strategy.

Maybe the government's plan is sound psychology. You don't feel the pain of paying taxes if the method makes you mad enough.

"It isn't our fault," said the leader; "they forced us to strike by ignoring our demands." That's the logic Hitler used when he attacked the little countries.

One should choose good company, but Alas! no matter which side you choose, you will be associated with a few skunks.

PRONUNCIATION ON THE RADIO

"Don't you think announcers putting in commercial radio plugs should be given a course of pronunciation, that is grammatical as well as "phony Groton-Harvard or Oxford style?"—Agnes.

Answer: Yes, since I received your note I have taken inventory of such errors as you mention, the commonest being:

Our, pronounced as if spelled are; tremendous pron-ounced tre-men-jus instead of Tre MEN-dus; harass accented on the last syllable instead of exactly as if spelled harris; the "t" in often sounded instead of left silent—effen, therefore, being the correct form. Others have been pronouncing precedence PRESS-e-dents instead of pre-SEE-dents; de-RIDGE-able instead of DER-i-gible; COL-yume instead of COL-um; AC-lim-ate instead of a-ACLIME-ate; VAG-ary instead of va-GARY; com-PARE-able instead of KOM-par-able; for-MID-able instead of FOR-mid-able; her-ku-LEE-an instead of her-KU-le-an; dark-complected instead of "a dark complexioned person"; in-te-RESTing instead of IN-ter-esting.

Question: What kind of clothes should a woman wear at an afternoon wedding and an evening wedding?—Eleanor.

Answer: A street-length dress, hat and gloves to the afternoon wedding whether it is formal or informal. If the evening wedding is to be informal, you may wear a street-length dress, hat and gloves to both the ceremony and the reception. If it is to be formal and you are to sit "in the ribbons" and go later to the reception, you should wear evening clothes or at least a dinner dress and a wrap. If you are going simply to witness the ceremony (not going to the reception) and not "sitting in the ribbons" you may wear street clothes, if you wish.

Tomorrow—Too Much Gushing.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

There are two remarks I hear quite often nowadays.

One is, "There are no more opportunities in this country", the other, "The day of the rich is gone".

Then along comes a story like the one about Isadore Kowal of Detroit, who came to America in 1913 as a dollar-a-day sausage worker, and just bought the Manhattan Towers hotel in New York for well over a million dollars.

Isadore doesn't subscribe to those two remarks. He thinks this country is all right.

He made his money in the shoe-repair business. He started with one shop and has thirty-two now.

As long as people have their shoes fixed, there are opportunities, thinks Isadore; not only for him, but for everybody else.

In addition to putting heels on shoes and potching them up, he owns several hotels.

He also collects relatives. In 1920, he brought his immediate family to this country from Pinsk in Russia.

His parents, six sisters, one brother, six brothers-in-law and a bunch of nephews and nieces, 35 in all, are all here now, in addition to his wife and kids.

Someone asked Isadore Kowal whether he was a millionaire.

He didn't really know, honestly, he didn't. It didn't make much difference, anyway, he thought.

But he knows he has enough to help some people a little—as for instance when he gave 200 soldiers and their wives free room and meals over the Christmas week-end in one of his Detroit hotels.

So you see there still is plenty of opportunity and plenty of wealth.

The only difference is in what you call opportunity and wealth.

There used to be a time when opportunity meant what you could do for yourself, and wealth, how much money you had in the bank.

Today opportunity means more what you can do for others and wealth is your ability to help your fellowmen and your community.

I do plenty of kicking myself, but I think that even a poor man in America is richer than a millionaire in Germany or Japan.

Animal Crackers

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

Slicker, the seal, probably was the most successful of all animal stars who have cavorted in front of Hollywood cameras. He earned $1,000 a week in the Glamour Jungle . . . Even had his own standin—another seal named Curly, who was the highest paid stand-in in the business at $300 per.

Slicker would never start emoting until his manager, H. W. Winston, tossed him a mackeral. Then Slicker would go to town, never missing a cue, never getting temperamental. He once delighted the capricious jade by biting Andy Devine in the pants for a scene in Bing Crosby's flicker, "Doctor Rhythm."

He co-starred with such screen greats as Dorothy Lamour, John Barrymore, Henry Fonda and George Raft. He stole scenes from all of them. (Most human actors dislike performing with trained animals, or children—they always steal scenes). Slicker was a bigshot for several years, knocking down a grand a week and eating mackeral as fast as Winston could toss 'em.

But Hollywood suddenly forgot Slicker, somehow, just as it has forgotten other great actors. Slicker was last heard of several years ago at the San Francisco World's Fair, where he appeared opposite Miss Sally Rand, mistress of optical illusion.

Sally still has her fans. But Slicker, the seal who had been a headliner when vaudeville was in flower, who had toured Europe and performed before the crowned heads—ended up a has-been . . . with no fans at all.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson: "We did pretty well the first year after Pearl Harbor, but after that year the soldiers went on but the rest of us fell off."

NEW YORK — Charles E. Wilson, executive WPB vice chairman: "Perhaps it is time for some fresh thinking in this matter of war and peace. Instead of looking to disarmament and unpreparedness as a safe-guard against war—a thoroughly discredited doctrine — let us try the opposite, full preparedness according to a continued plan."

CHICAGO — Maj. Gen. Philip P. Fleming, administrator of the Federal Works Agency, in urging action now on post-war projects to headoff unemployment: "I think the collapse of Germany will come suddenly, as it did in 1918."

WASHINGTON — Lt. Gen. J. L. De Witt, former west coast army commander, in his final report on the evacuation of Japanese after Pearl Harbor: "The continued presence of a large, unassimilated, tightly-knit racial group, bound to an enemy nation by strong ties of race, culture, customs and religion along a frontier vulnerable to attack constituted a menace that had to be dealt with."

The "old Army game" you read about consists in passing the buck. The winner is the one who can say: "He told me to do it."

No mere man can pay adequate compliments. He may say a new fur coat is "swell," but he can't rave about it for several minutes.

Inside Washington

Allied Stab To Northlands Is Probable
Democrats May Change Campaign Slogan
"Win The War In '44" New Deal Phrase

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. — The chips definitely are stacked for an all-out invasion of Hitler's captive Europe across the English channel and against the mainland of France.

But military and diplomatic observers unofficially expect blows to fall simultaneously elsewhere—particularly in the direction of Nazi-controlled Norway and Denmark. Obviously, the time and place of the invasions, where the trip-hammer blows will fall, and their intensity are cloaked in the deepest of military secrecy.

There is a growing feeling, however, that some action might be taken from Denmark across the plains of Schleswig-Holstein into the heart of Germany. Then the assault might come from Norway, where the German garrisons have fallen into an indifferent state of mind.

The Germans who have garrisoned the Norwegians for four years are sick of war and aware of the futility of continuing. Morale perhaps is poorer nowhere than in the German army in Norway.

If Norway could be seized at slight cost as a base for an attack on Germany through Denmark, the war might be shortened basically. Observers point out that a blow through Denmark would place the Germans in a dilemma—with troops massed in France and on the Russian border, and little knowledge of where the next blow will fall.

Once across Schleswig-Holstein the Allies would be at the gates of Berlin.

Professional politicians profess to see a tinge of politics in the upsurge of predictions the war in Europe will end this year. The political thinkers are in the minority but their arguments and views gain weight daily as the discussions continue and the predictions still come from high sources.

They reason: President Roosevelt, in seeking to change his party's slogan from "New Deal" to "Win the War" has provided only the first half of what is to be the presidential campaign slogan during the 1944 election race. The last half "in 1944" is being forced wittingly or unwittingly by the military and naval high command, both in the field and in Washington.

Thus, the politicas insist, the Democratic party's slogan eventually will evolve into "Win the War in '44."

Of course, the political group holding this view is composed of that faction in Washington which insists President Roosevelt will be a candidate for a fourth term—that he is, in fact, already running at top speed.

On the other hand, the Republicans in many sections of the country have launched their slogan—"Let's Win Sooner."

Harry Davis, the Pittsburgh flicker entrepeneur who opened the nation's first "movie" decades ago, would have been amazed to have witnessed the mass demonstration of war industry training films staged by the United States Offic of Education.

The films—motion pictures and "slides"—were shown to government officials and newsmen in the medium-sized Social Security building auditorium. But the educationalists under Federal Security-Manpower Chief Paul V. McNutt bettered the commercial "double-feature" proponents several times. Seventeen separate films—five motion pictures and a dozen "still" features—were shown simultaneously on the four wall spaces of the auditorium.

But the exhibiting technique proved impractical even for a government bureau. Aside from the confusion of competing pictures and overlapping sound tracks, the power "overload" was too much for the building electrical system. The performance was broken up by an untimely popping of fuses.

Bonds Should Be Kept, Declares Security Leader

By Emil Schram, President, New York Stock Exchange

The bonds of the United States of America are the best investments in the world today. They represent both national and personal security. We will have a special opportunity to add to our holdings of these bonds this month when the Fourth War Loan is brought out by the Government for the purpose of pressing on in Europe and Asia to complete victory—a victory which will mean all the difference between a mean, harried life for America and a triumphant return to freedom and opportunity to a further cultivation of the arts of peace.

The buying of War Bonds under the stimulus and fervor of a campaign to support our men in the armed services is only part of the privilege of Americans. Bonds bought should be bonds kept. Bonds bought should be retained against any impulse to turn them back into cash, except to meet the most serious personal needs.

Bonds bought now and kept will provide dependable income as well as complete safety, the Series E bond will store up capital for us—store it up the more rapidly the longer we keep them. As the Federal Reserve Board has recently emphasized, these E bonds provide a rate of return of 4% per annum during the last five years of their life as compared with an average of 2.9% over the whole term of the bonds.

Whatever type of bonds we buy, it is both prudent and patriotic to keep them. They are the best possible safeguard against the uncertainties of the long future.

The thing that bothers Republican politicians is not Willkie's attitude toward the world but his attitude toward Republicans.

The World and the Mud Puddles

THE PRESIDENT'S JOURNEY

The travels of the president, to say nothing of the travels of "Eleanor" make interesting reading.

Be it remembered that the president does not travel in crowded trains or in crowded Greyhounds. When he goes to sea to do a bit of fishing or to get a little sea air, he travels on a palatial yacht, government-owned, or on a warship, accompanied by protecting destroyers. In his shuttles between his fine estate at Hyde Park and Washington, he travels by special train, in a luxurious car. On his trips of inspection of war activities throughout the United States he also travels by special train, in a luxurious car, on the railroads, or in a beautiful automobile, escorted by secret service men, and it is always an "open barouche," where he can be seen, and from which he can smile and bow and appear as he always appears—"a hale fellow, well met."

Now he has taken to the airplane to see the world—and the Mud Puddles. He is accompanied, of course, by official secret service men and Harry Hopkins. He has a valet and that is all right. But why take along a corps of six Filipino cooks? That is what he did, according to newspaper reports when he journeyed to Africa, Cairo, Teheran and back to Cairo, Malta, Sicily, Portugal and Dakar. Royalty, in its best days, never lived so high, wide and handsome as this. King George, of course, is the only king just now who has any semblance of royalty. The rest of the kings and queens of the world have lost their jobs—but the president still holds his. I think it little behooves the president and his satellites to talk about "economic royalists" or the "princes of privilege."

Seriously, however, the head of the nation is entitled to everything the nation can give him. If the president wants to travel, all right. We may think it rather reckless for him to expose himself to the dangers of such traveling, but the president may hark back to his escape at Miami from the assassin's bullet and believe that he is being carded for by Almighty God and perhaps he is. None of us know anything about Destiny. In other words, there is nothing too good for a worthwhile man. Whether he be president or whether he be the director of great enterprises the success of every great enterprise means health, wealth and happiness for thousands and thousands of other men. The rich man's dollars are not only employed in the purchase of luxuries for himself and family, those dollars have always been at work and the wealth of this nation and the ability of this nation to carry on this extravagant war, is due to the fact that for years and years free enterprise has meant rich men and great accomplishments.

OVERHEATING

In recent years we have learned a lot about taking care of those who work in high temperatures.

Formerly persons woh worked in hot places had a great deal of trouble. They were subject to cramps and other disagreeable things.

Some one found out that if these workmen took some extra salt with their food and drink, they would have less trouble. It worked fine. They could stand the heat much better.

There is good reason to believe that vitamin B acts something like salt. Workmen who get a liberal amount of it stand the heat much better.

Foods should be chosen which are rich in this vitamin. It is beneficial in other ways too.

HOW TO SAY NOTHING

German official communiques these days are pitched in a new key. All bombast and boasting are gone. Instead there is a delicate ambiguity, which says nothing and leaves a reader guessing.

For example: "Local penetrations were sealed off." But were they Russian or German?

Or: "The figure of 57 takes yesterday reported knocked out in the sector of one German army corps has risen to 71. In the same sector yesterday a further 87 were knocked out." But whose tanks, please?

And in the same communique this: "In the past few days of fighting the 456th Saxon Grenadier regiment commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Sacher particularly distinguished itself." How? By fighting to the last man, or running?

The line of battle, inching ever westward, seems the best answer.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

4,000 LEAVE COLLEGE

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 21.—(INS)—Approximately 4,000 men were disclosed today to have left Pennsylvania State college to enter the armed forces during the past two years.

The registrar's office revealed that about 1,600 withdrew before completing the semester's work, while the others left between semesters. More than 2,000 were volunteers in the naval reserve, air corps reserve and army enlisted reserve.

GARBAGE STRIKE CONTINUES

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Garbage truck drivers carried their strike into its eighth day today with a declaration that they were "standing pat" in their demand for wage increases, but still were willing to negotiate with city council.

The decision was reached at a union meeting. Meanwhile, the rubbish problem is becoming more acute, with some householders forced to burn their garbage in furnaces to avoid adding to piles that have mounted high

PLAN AIR DRILLS

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The State Defense Council was preparing today to confer with all county chairmen at the State capitol January 25 and draft future plans for practice drills for Pennsylvania's 630,000 members of the Citizens' Defense corps.

The council said the conference was prompted by a recent announcement by army officials that practice blackouts and alerts would not be held oftener than once every three months.

WEATHER MAN TOOK BEATING DURING YEAR

By FRANCES SPATZ
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—Drought and flood, record heat waves and record cold spells—1943 ran the full gamut of weather.

In reviewing the capricious weather of the past year, the United States Weather Bureau cited freak temperature changes of 50 degrees in two minutes, swirling snowstorms that blocked roads for weeks and heat and drought equal to some parts of Africa.

Early Months Freakish

The Weather Bureau chalked April on the slate as the coldest in 30 years in the northeast, while the dryest January on record obtained over the plains of the central states. Hurricane winds in east Texas reached 84 miles per hour and were accompanied by a 24-hour rainfall in excess of 15 inches.

By months, the highlights of the year's weather, according to official record were:

January—The Black Hills district of South Dakota experienced the most rapid temperature flucuation of its history. Temperatures at Spear Fish, S. D., climbed from minus four degrees to 45 degrees in two minutes and later the same morning fell from 54 degrees to minus four degrees in 27 minutes.

February Very Dry

February—The year saw the dryest February of record for the country as a whole.

March—Transportation facilities were badly crippled as some of the worst blizzards of the season swept from Montana through Michigan.

April—Portions of the northeast reported the coldest April in 30 years, while melting snow resulting from unseasonably high temperatures over the upper Missouri basin caused the greatest spring flood since 1881 along the Missouri river from Bismarck to Omaha.

May Brings Floods

May—Disastrous floods covered the rich industrial and agricultural areas from Oklahoma to southern Michigan as a result of excessive rainfall over the central plains. A century-old river stage record was broken.

June—A heat wave toasted eastern and south central areas and drought conditions were developing over the southeast and portions of the southeastern states.

July—Hot dry weather continued. Fifteen million dollars damage was caused by a hurricane which moved inland and struck near Houston, Texas.

Hot in Washington

August—Washington, D. C., reported the dryest and hottest summer of record, while eastern and southern regions completed the third month of extensive heat and drought.

September—With the arrival of September, hot weather abated over the east while abnormally cold weather spread over the north central states.

October—The first general fall freeze and snowfall occurred near the middle of the month.

Year Closes Mildly

November—The first important blizzard of the winter was reported from north central areas during the first week of November. Later in the month a heavy snow blanketed most of New England and parts of eastern New York.

December—The weather at the end of the year was remarkable for its mildness in comparison with its prior freakishness.

Tax Bill Nears Senate Approval

Final Action In Senate Is Seen On Two Billion And Quarter Measure

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The senate neared passage today of a two billion, 275 million dollar tax bill slightly more than one fifth the amount requested by President Roosevelt.

The measure, closely following the pattern of a bill approved by the house, was called up for final action as Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney (D) Wyo., declared it kills all chance for enactment of national service legislation.

O'Mahoney pointed out that Mr. Roosevelt, in proposing a "labor draft," imposed certain conditions including passage of a "realistic" tax bill which he later said should be for at least ten and a half billion dollars.

"Any chance that a national service bill had will be gone with passage of the tax bill," said O'Mahoney. "Certainly legislation to draft men and women for work is not going to pass so long as we don't draft money.

"The tax bill is wholly inadequate. It allows continuation of high profits in time of war."

Early Passage Seen

Chances of early passage of the tax bill were improved by a finance committee compromise in the battle over authority for scaling down profits through renegotiation of war contracts.

The committee majority yielded to major demands of the armed forces for continued power to cut profits. Supporters of the compromise argued that the amendments to the renegotiation law still leave war agencies with authority to prevent undue profits.

"They seem reasonably satisfactory," said Sen. McKellar (D) Tenn., author of the renegotiation law under which war contractors have returned over five billion dollars to the treasury.

The finance committee yielded to the administration in its insistence that authority to renegotiate contracts for standard commercial articles be continued. It also yielded on retroactive exemption of sub-contractors, with a special exemption for machine tool makers after last June 30.

The committee struck from the bill an amendment giving exemption from renegotiation to manufacturers following war production board directives and observing ceiling prices. It also eliminated a provision requiring that renegotiation be based upon profits left after taxes were paid.

The administration made some concessions. It agreed to amendments exempting future construction contracts let by competitive bidding, clearer separation of renegotiation and repricing provisions, exemption of contracts with some public utilities and common carriers, and making retroactive amendments exempting agricultural products.

A finance committee amendment ending renegotiation next January 1, with the president having authority to continue it for six months, was said to be objectionable to war agencies.

Hunt For Source Of Large Supply Of Gas Coupons

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—(INS)—A search was underway today by federal authorities for the source of wholesale quantities of gasoline ration coupons as the result of information reportedly obtained from a Harrisburg man arrested yesterday at the instance of a wounded United States marine. The search was said to center in Philadelphia.

Meanwhile, Anthony G. Thomas was held in jail in default of $1500 bail preliminary to a hearing this afternoon before U. S. Commissioner William S. Middleton. He was charged with the illegal possession of 16 sheets of C2 gasoline coupons worth 7280 gallons.

His principal accuser, Corp. Edgar Y. Lochrie, a patient at the Naval Medical Center at Bethesda, Md., where he is convalescing from 16 shrapnel wounds received in the Southwest Pacific, continued to his home in Johnstown yesterday after denouncing Thomas to police. Lochrie told police and O. P. A. enforcement officials that Thomas had offered to "cut him in" on "a good racket" during a conversation on a westbound train from Philadelphia. Thomas was arrested when the train halted at Harrisburg.

Lochrie said he was enroute to a fourth war bond rally in Johnstown when his fellow passenger allegedly offered to take him in as a partner and showed him the ration stamps which he said he had purchased in Philadelphia a few hours previous for $300. O. P. A. authorities in Harrisburg said Thomas, who is a produce dealer, has supplemented a "signed statement" with an offer to cooperate in the investigation.

YEAH, HOW ABOUT IT?

SYDNEY, Australia — (INS) — Commenting on the "MacArthur for President" campaign in the United States, the Sydney Morning Herald said Australia hoped the uncertainty about the general's attitude would not prejudice the southwest Pacific theater of operations. It is legitimate, the paper declared, to express the hope that General MacArthur will soon resolve the doubt one way or the other.

FAIRLESS WARNS NATION AROUSED

Says People Will Not Allow Strikes, Work Stoppages Much Longer

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Benjamin F. Fairless, head of U. S. Steel Corporation, warned today that "a justly aroused" American people will not allow strikes and other work stappages much longer. He said, also that labor unions which allowed them would be responsible for strong anti-strike legislation if it came.

In a strongly-worded speech to the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, Fairless said no interference can be countenanced at this "crucial period" of the war. The steel executive emphasized a distinction between what he termed loyal and trouble-makers in labor's family.

"The majority of U. S. wage earners," he said, "are both patriotic and hard working, and they can be proud of the production records which they have helped establish since Pearl Harbor."

Fairless re-stated his company's long-standing labor policy that "the right to work should not be dependant upon membership or non-membership in any labor organization."

The steel man urged "sincere and sympathetic" cooperation between management and government and workers and pointed out the government derived a third of its war revenue from taxes on industry. Further, he said, "without profits our industrial machine will be endangered and workers may find their source of livlihood cut off or undermined."

Government should get out of business as soon as possible after the war is over, Fairless declared, adding: "It should not attempt to set itself up in business in competition with industry. Any such course would be in the direction of state socialism."

Fairless said disposition of government-owned plants should be done with the recognition that "their cost is not a government investment" but an expendable nature "of the same general character as a battleship."

STEALS FIRE TRUCK

BUENA VISTA, Pa., Jan. 21.—(INS)—Earl Sellabaum, 19, of Buena Vista, was held on charges of stealing a $6,000 community fire truck.

Sellabaum, according to evidence developed at a justice of the peace hearing, broke into the Buena Vista firehouse, took the truck, and drove about 75 miles through Elizabeth township and McKeesport. He then returned the vehicle undamaged.

"I don't know why I did it," the youth said as he pleaded guilty. He evaded officers during his ride and was not arrested until the following day.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

BRIEF NEWS OVER STATE

(International News Service)

TRAPPE—Frank W. Shalkop, a Trappe undertaker, who handed out paychecks to his employe, Harry S. Whitman, for 23 years suddenly found the situation reversed. Whitman died leaving Shalkop sole beneficiary of a $5,050 estate.

PITTSBURGH—Sgt. Betty Jane O'Leary, 24, of Pittsburgh, proved to be the most popular WAC stationed in Algiers. She received the record number of 51 presents for Christmas.

SCRANTON—A major and a corporal ignored their ranks one day in England and toured the countryside together. They were Maj. G. O. Ramont, of Scranton, and his son, Cpl. Nelson F. Ramont, who held a reunion in Gt. Britain.

NORRISTOWN—A broken match tip cost Harvey Rittenhouse, of Norristown, $100. The tip broke as the match was struck in Rittenhouse's bedroom and ignited the bedclothes and the room.

HARRISBURG—Although the declaration of independence was adopted on July 4, 1776, it was not signed by members of Congress until on or after Aug. 2 when a copy engrossed on parchment was available, the Pennsylvania planning board recalls. Pennsylvania was represented by the greatest numbers of signers, nine out of the 56 who appended their names to the famous document.

BETHLEHEM—Lehigh University has changed its graduate degree requirements because of the war. Henceforth, graduate students doing governmental research in wartime projects will be given credit toward fulfillment of the requirements for graduate degrees even though their findings cannot be published.

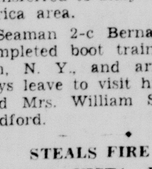

ERIE—Charlie McCarthy may become an Erie Alderman. This Charlie McCarthy is a guard for the Erie Water department and a candidate for public office.

CORAOPOLIS—Mrs. Anne Farnese, 37, an employe of the Dravo Corporation shipyards, holds the title of "youngest war mother in vital industry." Her 20-year-old son, Joseph is a seaman in the navy.

Want an advance on your salary?

If you find yourself caught short between pay days and don't want to borrow from your friends or employer, a loan from 'Personal' may be the answer.

PROVIDES NEEDED CASH

While unnecessary borrowing is never wise, a 'Personal' loan that provides immediate cash without bothering others is often the best solution to a money problem. Monthly repayments are sensible and you pay only for the actual time you keep the money. Loans for small amounts readily made. For example: $30 for 2 weeks costs you less than 50c. Other amounts in proportion.

PROMPT SERVICE

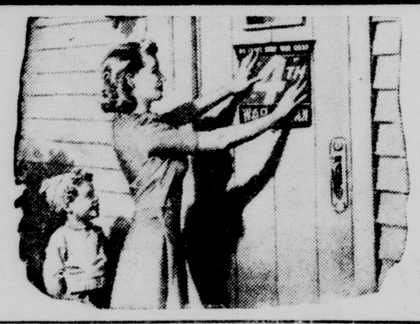

Everything is handled in a business-like, yet friendly way, and co-signers are seldom required. If you need extra cash, come in or phone us today. Loans also made by mail.

Soviet Desires Good Relations With Poland Soon

Such Is Declared To Be Attitude Of Soviet Authorities In Present Situation

LONDON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Soviet authorities were reported today to want the basis of good relations with Poland laid down just as soon as possible.

But, a Moscow dispatch to Reuters news agency stated, their position is that Russia will not take up relations with a people whose political past has, in Soviet eyes, condemned them as enemies of the U. S. R. R.

The dispatch added that Russian dissatisfaction with the Polish situation—recently symptomized by the post-war boundary dispute—so far as an exile government in London is concerned, is not entirely limited to Polish politicians.

There is a feeling in Moscow, the dispatch said, that if the British and American governments wanted to participate in the Polish settlement, they should have perceived with keener eye the importance of the question of who is to represent the Poles at this stage.

Reuters article declared that there is no doubt the American ambassador to Russia—W. Averell Harriman—who is in contact with Soviet authorities over the Polish question, had their positions "lengthily" explained to him.

From Teheran, Iran's capital, came word meanwhile that the big Polish refugee community there is watching the Russo-Polish question carefully, particularly since the Soviet suggestion that the post-war boundary take from Poland the western Ukraine and western White Russia, but that the Poles annex land from Germany to the east.

The 10,000 Poles in Iran form the largest community of Polish refugees in the world.

These Poles, represented by four political parties corresponding to those working in Poland's underground movement, issued a joint statement expressing their loyalty to their exile government in London and tacitly expressing hope the Russo-Polish dispute would be settled.

PLAN TO QUESTION WOMAN TODAY

State police and County Detective Charles Ross proposed this afternoon to question a County Line road young woman who reportedly was seized in Cascade street by two men in an auto Thursday morning and who escaped from the car on Butler road near Willow Brook. The girl was injured during the affair. She was highly excited following the harrowing experience and some details officers wish to ascertain will be sought today, it was stated.

The rosefish is brilliant in color, a vivd orange or red, with paler underparts and large black eyes.

Hospital Groups Have Joint Meeting

New Castle Hospital Nursing Council And Faculty Discuss Problems

Annual joint meeting of the School of Nursing council and the School of Nursing faculty, was held Thursday evening in the New Castle Hospital School of Nursing.

Prior to the business session, a delicious dinner prepared by the Sisters of St. Francis was served by the members of the Red Cross Nurses Aides Corps.

President, John Maher, of the School of Nursing Council presided at the meeting. Problems concerning the management of the school and the number of student nurses enrolled and the new class were discussed.

Sister Mary Dolorosa, director of the School of Nursing gave the report and summary concerning the School of Nursing and also the report of the health of the student nurses.

Sister Mary Clements, science instructor of the School of Nursing gave a complete report of the activities for the year. A general discussion followed.

Announcement was also made that capping exercises for the present pre-clinic class will be held during the latter part of January. Further plans for this event are to be made.

Mystery In Death Of New York Pigeons

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Police and health authorities investigated today the mysterious death of more than a score of pigeons yesterday.

Police were summoned to St. Patrick's cathedral by amazed pedestrians when the birds began dropping from the Gothic decorations and niches of the church where many of them nest. Later a similar epidemic was reported at Madison Square Park where others congregate.

First diagnosis confirmed a poison theory but police could not discover whether it was from deliberately tainted food or from gases escaping from neighboring smokestacks.

A number of reddish seeds, in appearance like sugar-coated peanuts, were found near the cathedral and turned over to police for examination. Deliberate poisoning of a pigeon is a felony in New York.

Water is the world's most precious liquid, since every form of life is dependent upon it.

ARREST WOMAN ON CENSORSHIP CHARGES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(INS) The Department of Justice today announced the arrest of Mrs. Velvalee Dickinson, nationally known New York authority on dolls, on charges of violating wartime censorship regulations.

F.B.I. Chief J. Edgar Hoover said that Mrs. Dickinson, 50, sent cleverly coded messages to a South American spy contact which appeared only to refer to dolls.

Hoover said Mrs. Dickinson had been a close associate of Japanese elements in the United States and was a member of the Japanese-American society until 1937.

SEEK TO LIQUIDATE PETROLEUM RESERVES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Senators Ralph O. Brewster, (R) Me., and E. H. Moore, (R) Okla., today joined in introducing a bill calling for liquidation of the Petroleum Reserves corporation.

They asserted that the purpose of the corporation is to put the government in the oil business, both in and outside of the United States, and there is doubt about its legal authority.

Veterans Want Regular Jobs

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 21.—(INS)—Regular jobs in private industry—not government aid or government jobs—are what returning servicemen want most after this war, in the opinion today of Gov. John W. Bricker.

The Ohio Republican, an avowed candidate for the G.O.P. presidential nomination, said there should be no repetition of apple-selling in the streets by war veterans.

"We don't dare let that happen in this free land again," Bricker said solemnly.

In an address to the Buffalo Torch club, Bricker reiterated his recent statements that the Federal government should be "decentralized" and rightful powers returned to the states and the municipalities.

STEAL OVERCOAT, SHOES

Auto owned by J. A. Altman, R. D. 4, which was reportedly stolen from near the P. R. R. shops, seventh ward, was found by city police on Mt. Jackson road last night. However, an overcoat and pair of shoes which were in the auto were missing.

LIVE OR LET LIVE

LONDON — (INS) — Empty London dwellings are being taken over by city authorities, under powers recently granted, to relieve the housing shortage. Owners are first given a chance to rent the houses. Furniture is not taken with premises. The owner has to store it. So far about 50,000 houses have been requisitioned for evacuated and bombed-out families and transferred war workers.

Indirect German Peace 'Feelers' Have Been Made

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—It was learned on responsible diplomatic authority today that indirect German peace "feelers" actually have been made to Great Britain on more than one occasion.

In each instance, however, the British government has flatly rejected the overtures. The parties representing Germany have been advised that unconditional surrender to the United Nations as a whole are the only terms on which Britain is prepared to make peace with Germany.

Furthermore, it was learned the British have on each occasion informed Moscow as well as Washington of the German peace "feelers". The British government also has advised the Soviet and American governments that the Germans were being told Britain would agree to nothing less than unconditional surrender.

Pravda Move Unjustified

It is for this reason that the British view the recent Pravda separate peace accusation against Britain as completely unjustified and unfair.

Well informed diplomatic sources also discount the theory that the Moscow accusation might have been prompted by Soviet fears that Germany might maneuver the British and Americans into a position where they would occupy Germany before the Russians get there.

There have been persistent reports in neutral European capitals that the Germans would deliberately "cave-in" before the Anglo-American invading armies in western Europe, thus enabling them to occupy Germany first and save the Germans from Soviet reprisals.

However, diplomatic sources revealed that Moscow has no justification for placing any credence in these reports for the following reasons:

Plans For Future

Great Britain, the United States and Russia are now actively engaged in drafting definite plans for the joint Anglo-American-Soviet occupation of Germany. These plans call for Soviet occupation of part of Germany irrespective of who gets there first.

Under these circumstances, the view prevails in certain responsible diplomatic quarters that Moscow must have had some other motive than the peace scare for the accusation against Great Britain.

Since one of the main effects of the Pravda accusation has been to arouse among the Russian people suspicion and distrust of Britain, it is feared this may have been the deliberate purpose.

Why should Moscow want at this time to turn the Russian people against Britain? The possibility is seen that Russia may be getting ready to set up a puppet regime in Poland, and may be annoyed at the British for helping the Polish refugee government in London.

The Russian people have shown a growing warmth for the British of late. It is considered not improbable that Moscow wanted to simmer down this warm feeling before the Soviet government becomes openly critical of the British support for the London Poles.

Mission Study Day At First Church

Hershey Auxiliary Sponsors All-Day Session, Luncheon At Church

Reviews of the national and foreign mission study books were given on Thursday at annual Mission Study Day at the First Presbyterian church sponsored by Hershey Auxiliary. Luncheon was served at one o'clock during recess between morning and afternoon sessions. Mrs. M. L. Maxwell was general chairman.

During the morning program that opened at 11 o'clock in the church parlors, Mrs. Frank L. Orth reviewed the national study book, "We Who Are American."

Two solo numbers were sung by Mrs. George Strehler who was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Fred Wedley. Program chairman and leader of the devotional service was Mrs. J. A. McNeill.

At one o'clock 77 women of the church were seated for luncheon at tables prettily decorated with potted primroses and suggestions of valentine day. Mrs. A. J. Genkinger was chairman of the luncheon committee. Other members were Mrs. M. L. Porter, Mrs. Mont Magill, Mrs. Harold L. Yost, Mrs. M. A. Brown and Mrs. H. L. Gardner.

Program for the afternoon included a review by Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine of the foreign mission study book "For All of Life."

Soloist was Mrs. Ross D. Rosenberger, who was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. James A. Rugh.

Deny Rumors On Early Production Of Pleasure Cars

CLEVELAND, Jan. 21.—There will be no production of pleasure cars until the end of the war with Japan, a War Production Board official declared here today in spiking "widespread rumors" a general return to civilian production is in the immediate offing.

John V. Virden, regional WPB director, said in a statement recent contract cancellations and cutbacks "are no indication a reconversion to civilian production is imminent."

Yank Fighters Trick Japs Into Costly Air Fight

Japs Lately Have Become 'Cagey' About Coming Out Into Open To Fight

By PETER HEMERY
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

AN ADVANCED ALLIED AIR BASE ON NEW GUINEA, Jan. 18.—(Delayed)—INS)—The Japs lately have been kind of cagey about coming out and fighting, but today Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney's fighters tricked them into a battle which considerably sliced their fighter strength at Wewak.

It was the biggest fighter sweep yet to take place on the north coast of New Guinea. A small force of Thunderbolts approached the Wewak target chattering loudly on their command radios. As 50 to 60 Jap fighters scrambled from the Wewak dromes to intercept them, the trap was sprung by a strong formation of Lockheed Lightnings flying in great diamonds of echelons 10,000 feet deep, with Warhawks and Thunderbolts strengthening the force.

First Lieut. Howard Hederick of Atlanta summed up the ensuing brawl, in which one of the southwest Pacific's biggest dogfights raged over Wewak.

"I was in the lead formation," he said, "when we were jumped by between 15 and 20 Zeros. We fell into a 'luffberry'—flying in one great circle and swinging out to attack when a Nip gave us a shot.

"The Japs came in using splitless turns. I shot at one, but his turn was too tight and I missed. Another followed him. I shot and he burst into flames. The pilot turned on back and bailed out. Throughout the half-hour fight, the Nip pilots were aggressive and eager."

Hedrick's Zero brought his score to four enemy planes shot down.

The pilots agreed unanimously that the Japs put up a fight reminiscent of the early days of the war when they were using their first-line pilots. They attacked harder and were more willing to engage in combat than they have been in a long time.

Formations of our fighters which were over the target without Nips near took heavy ack-ack, but not a plane was hit. One American pilot shot a Jap, but was unable to avoid the enemy's uncontroled ship. He crashed into it and went down with it.

First Lieut. Robert Hadley of Oakland, Cal., who scored his first victory today, had a surprise in store for him when he touched his home field. He found his kid brother, Jeff, whom he had not seen since he left the United States, waiting to greet him. Jeff, who is in the navy, walked 12 miles to see him.

Says Russia Is Business Source For United States

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(INS)—"Russia is not a competitor of America, but an excellent source of business for America," Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, declared today.

Nelson, in a signed article in the current issue of Collier's Weekly on his recent tour of the Soviet Union, disclosed that Russia is planning to produce consumer goods after the war on a vast scale to raise the living standards of its 180,000,000 people.

"Her present output on consumer goods is small," Nelson writes, "and her internal needs are so great that she has no interest in competing in world industrial markets."

NEED 6000 PHYSICIANS

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The armed forces need 6,000 physicians as medical officers, army and navy officers advised the Allegheny County Medical Society today.

Lieut. Col. D. G. Hall, of the army surgeon's general staff, Washington said civilian needs are carefully considered in the procurement of doctors for the armed forces, only those who are considered "available" being accepted. But 50 per cent of those declared available, he asserted, have failed to apply for commissions.

"JACK THE RIPPER" SOUGHT

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—"Jack the Ripper" was added today to the list of wartime public nuisances.

He is the fellow who, when told he can't have a taxicab for a few hours, rips out the telephone at the cab stations. Police have begun a campaign to end the epidemic of angry destruction which has developed in the past two months, including the smashing of parking meters. So far they haven't been able to trap a suspect.

5,000 IN SERVICE

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—(INS)—At least 5,000 newspapermen and women have gone into service from Pennsylvania, the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers association disclosed today.

William N. Hardy, P. N. P. A. manager, revealed in the association's "convention bulletin" that on one newspaper, the Johnstown Democrat, the entire editorial staff went into the armed forces.

BANK ELECTION

GROVE CITY, Jan. 21.—Directors of the Grove City National Bank re-elected all officers at the annual meeting. They are: President, Dr. E. J. Fithian; vice president and cashier, E. B. Harshaw; assistant cashier and trust officer, J. S. Armstrong; assistant cashiers, Norman S. Crill, J. R. Barber and W. H. Mayes.

SENATOR DAVIS SILENT

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—United States Senator James J. Davis insisted today that he would not comment upon his possible candidacy for re-election until the tax and subsidy bills have been passed by the senate.

"You can't have these bills in your head," he explained, "and politics at the same time."

At a recent date the officers of the L. L. O. L. No. 24 were entertained at the home of their past mistress, Mrs. Elsie Pugh, Hillcrest avenue, to honor one of their past officers, Pvt. Marion B. Davis, of Camp Carson, Col., home on 10-day leave. Places were marked for 20. A full course dinner was served at 7 p. m., by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Cassie Morrow, Mrs. Adda Keeling, Mrs. Margaret Wallace.

The group presented the honored guest with a suit case, as a remembrance. Special guest was Mrs. Henrietta Davis, state grand deputy mistress.

Four tables of cards were enjoyed, prizes going to Pvt. Marion Davis, Mrs. Winifred Buckley, Edna Duncan, Mrs. Adda Keeling. Pvt. Davis returns to her duties at Camp Carson, Col., the end of the week.

FROZEN WATER MAINS

SOMERSET, Pa., Jan. 19.—(INS)—Twenty-seven families in Meyersdale were without water today because of frozen water mains on Lincoln avenue. A large reservoir stood at a six inch level with only enough reserve to fight a fire for two hours.

The auxiliary company was called on to remedy the situation.

Imported Farm Workers Get Better 'Break' Than Natives

Such Is Report From Official Source; Foreign Workers Get Individual Contracts

By ERWIN D. SIAS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Uncle Sam is giving imported farm workers from Mexico, Jamaica and the Bahamas a better "break" on wages and employment practices than he offers the average American farm hand, an official source disclosed today.

Foreign workers, brought to the United States to bolster the vital food production effort, sign individual contracts with the war food administration guaranteeing them prevailing wage rates or a 30 cents an hour minimum pay standard.

An authoritative government spokesman pointed out, however, that American farm workers, among the lowest paid groups in this nation's economy, do not have minimum wage rates or any guarantee they will receive the prevailing wage rates.

He said imported farm laborers, on the other hand, are assured full employment for 75 per cent of the contract period; are granted subsistence allowance when unemployed; are given free shelter or, in some cases, pay only a small fee for living quarters.

The war food administration pays transportation for the foreign farm workers to and from their homelands and also provides free medical care during their contract period.

Another benefit granted the imported workers is that of collective bargaining rights with their employer—a privilege which few, if any, American farm hands enjoy, the spokesman declared.

In some instances, the spokesman continued, the foreign workers have been used in areas where there were unemployed American farm hands. Employers were obliged under terms of the WFA contracts to keep the imported farmers at work despite the availability of Americans—who sat by and watched the foreign laborers at work, he asserted.

The majority of the imported workers are earning far more in the United States than they received in Mexico, Jamaica or the Bahamas, he pointed out.

Commenting on the war-swollen incomes of most American farm operators, the spokesman said "some farm operators who employ workers could pay higher wages than they do, as evidenced by the fact that the net income of farm operators has risen much faster than the wage bill since 1937."

Farm operators' net income in 1943 was estimated at 182 per cent higher than in 1939, while the 1943 farm wage bill was only 104 per cent higher than in 1939, he declared.

Congress in public law 45 expressly prohibited payment of minimum wages and the other benefits granted imported workers to American workers, it was explained.

Honor Roll At New Wilmington To Be Dedicated

Program To Be Given Sunday Night At United Presbyterian Church

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 21.—Townspeople and students of Westminster college will join in services dedicating New Wilmington's community honor roll Sunday evening, January 23, at 8 o'clock in the United Presbyterian church. The dedication ceremony is under the auspices of the recently organized local American Legion post.

At the time of its erection early in December, the honor roll contained names of 195 men and women of this vicinity serving in all branches of service. Since then, an additional number have left and their names will be added soon.

Located on a prominent corner of the town square, the new service roll is enhanced by evergreen shrubbery and is floodlighted at night.

Westminster President Dr. Robert F. Galbreath will give the principal address Sunday evening. Walt Whitman principal of local schools, will make the dedicatory address and read names listed on the community roll. Also included on the program are selections by the college chapel choir, prayer by Dr. J. R. Neale; scripture by Rev. W. F. Byers, benediction by Rev. M. E. Lindstrom, and the national anthem.

Religious Survey Workers Rally For Task On Jan. 23

Nearly 200 workers who will take part in a city-wide religious survey here on Sunday afternoon, the survey to be conducted under the auspices of the New Castle Ministerial Association, rallied Thursday evening at the First Baptist church for organization.

A description of the task ahead was outlined to the volunteer workers by Rev. O. W. Hurst, chairman of the evangelistic committee of the local ministerium.

Organization under eight ward leaders has been effected and leaders reported that workers are well lined up and eager to apply themselves to the task of extending a welcome from the churches to people in the city, particularly to those without church affiliations.

Rev. D. L. Ferguson, D.D., pastor of Highland U. P. church, conducted devotions at the rally in the absence due to illness of Rev. T. J. Jones, president of the Ministerial Association. A period of prayer for the success of Sunday's enterprise closed the meeting.

In the event of unduly inclement weather a postponement of the day for the survey will be called until January 30.

FIRST WIFE IS SOUGHT IN CASE

inquest for noon today and ordered Mrs. Williams' two daughters and her husband to attend.

From a maze of baffling circumstances surrounding the slaying, police emerged with a belief that the mysterious gunwoman who shot Mrs. Williams was thoroughly familiar with the Drake hotel, on Chicago's Gold Coast.

The slain woman's husband is Frank Starr Williams, an expert on the Far East. A veteran of 31 years in China, Japan and the Far East, he was interned by the Japanese after Pearl Harbor and returned to America in June, 1942, on the exchange liner Gripsholm and since has been an attache in the State department at Washington.

Varied Investigation

The investigation was pursued along many lines.

The most concentrated efforts were being put forth to establish the identity of a middle-aged woman wearing a black Persian lamb coat and "something red" in her gray hair, who waylaid Mrs. Williams and her daughter, Mrs. Patricia Goodbody, 28, in their eighth floor apartment. This mystery woman was the assassin.

One of the strange twists in the investigation came with a report that Mrs. Williams had been seen Wednesday in the Camellia house, fashionable cocktail lounge at the Drake, with a woman who fitted the description of the assailant, a short time before the shooting.

Studied also was the possibility of a robbery motive. Mrs. Williams' elaborate suite was disclosed to have contained valuable furs and costly jewels.

A theory that the slaying may have been the result of international intrigue was evolved from the knowledge that Mrs. Williams had been an outspoken critic of the Japanese.

First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley, said he was convinced the shooting was motivated by revenge, but he refused to elaborate, other than to say Mrs. Williams perhaps had made enemies because of what he described as an "acid tongue".

Created Sensation In Japan

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Mrs. Frank Starr Williams, slain wife of an American diplomat, was revealed today to have created a sensation in Japan by exposing cliques that plotted against America before the war.

The Chicago Herald-American said it learned the story of Mrs. Williams' stormy life from pre-war 1937 until she had to flee Japan to escape internment from a close woman friend in Washington, who had been the shooting victim's guest in Tokyo.

The newspaper said Mrs. Williams was so outspoken in a book, "Diplomat's Wife In Tokyo," and over teacups at ambassadorial functions that her husband sometimes had to plead with her to "soft-pedal" her criticisms.

The story of Mrs. Williams' activities in the Near East was told while authorities speculated on the fantastic possibility, among other theories, that she was shot because of her anti-Japanese activities.

"Mrs. Williams took over the residence of Saburo Kurusu, one of two Japanese ambassadors who told Secretary Hull that Japan wanted peace even while bombs were falling on Pearl Harbor.

"It was against this backstop that the intrigues of various nationalist groups were aired in the American colony. . . .

"Mrs. Williams was among the first Americans to see war clouds over Japan. She started writing inside stories about diplomats and a printer published them. They were sensational because they named names of those with Pro-Japanese learnings.

"Because they were too sensational and daring, government officials in Washington refused to permit their publication in book form in America."

UNION SERVICES

GROVE CITY, Jan. 21.—Dr. Peter Marshall of Washington, D. C., will preach at union church services here Feb. 15-18, in the United Presbyterian church. Local ministers will speak at similar services Feb. 8-10. Charles R. Myers of Slippery Rock will lead the singing at all services. On Feb. 6-13-20, the union services will be held in Grace Methodist church.

The program replaces the annual union weeks of prayer and preaching, in which the First Presbyterian, United Presbyterian and Grace Methodist congregations unite.

Of the 3 1-4 million unmarried women in Great Britain between the ages of 18 and 40, nine out of 10 are engaged full time in war work or civil defense, or are members of the armed forces.

the struggle for Pushkin. Frontline correspondents said the battle had reached "fever pitch" and that the Red army already had driven into the northern and western suburbs of the town which lies on the railroad to Luga.

Nazi's Acknowledge Reverses

(The German overseas radio, according to Reuters, acknowledged further reverses for the Nazis in White Russia. West of Rechitsa, which is between Gomel and the old frontier, the Soviets were said to have penetrated the German positions after fighting which continued with "unabated fury.")

Already more than one-tenth this number have been slain by Govorov's troops, which yesterday were revealed to have effected a junction of the two forces advancing from the Pulkhovo and Oranienbaum areas. Some 15,000 more Germans were annihilated on the Volkhov river front.

"Scattered groups of routed German units are surrounded by our troops and are being exterminated," said the official Soviet communique.

(The London Daily Express estimated that 100,000 Nazi troops were routed by the Russian successes south of Leningrad.)

The triple-phased offensive to clear the enemy from the far northern front was marked also by capture of more than 5,000 Nazis, indicating that the German high command's usual claim of effecting a "strategic withdrawal" would not hold water.

Many Germans Giving Up

"Many German officers and soldiers are laying down their arms and giving themselves up," added the communique. "An enormous quantity of various weapons and war materiels have been captured."

The threat to large enemy forces in the Leningrad-Novgorod sectors was increased as the Russians moved to cut major communication lines. Warships of the Baltic fleet, operating in support of the Leningrad offensive, were shelling roads behind the German lines, thus impeding movement of tanks and infantry.

Heavy Red army artillery brought the vital Krasnogvardeisk railroad junction under fire, and heavy fighting proceeded along the main road leading westward from Novgorod, where a Russian column pushing up from the south threatened to cut the Novgorod-Luca railway.

Also hammering the enemy communication lines were Soviet bombers and Stormovik dive-bombers. The Russian aircraft dealt "uninterrupted blows" against Nazi strongpoints, inflicting "heavy losses" on troop and supply concentrations alike.

Cut Off Retreat

Novgorod, 100 miles south of Leningrad, fell to Russian forces which first cut off all roads of retreat. By a "skillful outflanking maneuver," the official bulletin said, the Red army surged across the frozen Volkhov river and Lake Ilmen—above and below the fortress city—and advanced to cut the railway to Batetskaya.

This route was severed by capture of Nashchi, six miles west of Nozorod, which was officially described as "a large railway and highway junction."

"Forging impetuously ahead," added the Russian bulletin, "the Soviet units came astride the last highway along which the Germans could retreat westward."

Toward the south, the Russians continued to advance north of Novosokolniki along the railroad to Dno. Spearheading this advance were ski troopers.

In the Southwest Ukraine, meanwhile, Russia's first Ukrainian army stopped large-scale Nazi tank and infantry counter-attacks north of Kristinovka for the second consecutive day.

Approximateiy 1,500 Germans were killed when the enemy infantry troops were "mauled and mostly destroyed."

SWEDES ON GUARD

STOCKHOLM — (INS) — Major General Helge Jung, commander of Swedish forces on the Norwegian frontier, said in a recent Stockholm speech that Swedish defenses has grown so strong that an invader would meet very efficient resistence. "We would even be able to take the initiative," he declared.

Joan Barry Tells Story To Grand Jury In California

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Joan Barry's version of how she was ousted from Beverly Hills as a vagrant and then thrown into jail when she returned has been revealed but the story today was a closely-guarded secret of a federal grand jury.

The grand jury was in recess today and will not be in session again until next Wednesday.

Under oath, the red-headed former protege of Comedian Charles Chaplin appeared before the jury yesterday and related the circumstances which were climaxed by the accusation that the film star is the father of her four-month-old daughter.

Her baby, Carol Ann, is four months old and weighs 11 pounds, eight ounces. Miss Barry told reporters before she went into the courtroom. The jury is determining whether or not Miss Barry's civil rights were violated. She appeared as a key witness in the case which has been under investigation for months by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. From the length of time she was closeted with the jury—several hours—it was obvious her story was gone into in detail.

Draft Program For Re-Employment Of State's Veterans

Veterans Organizations And Civic Groups Are Framing Program For State

By JOHN PAGET
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—A broad program of re-employment for Pennsylvania' veterans of World War II was being drafted today by veterans organizations and civic groups.

A score of veterans' and civic leaders approved a tentative program for organizing community committees to contact employers and ascertain labor needs in order to assure prompt placements when demobilization of the nation's armed forces gets underway. They adopted the official title "Pennsylvania state clearing house committee for veterans' employment."

William O. Ingelfritz of Harrisburg, the American Legion's veterans' employment representative for Pennsylvania, pointed out that not only must the committees be prepared to aid veterans return to their peacetime jobs or similar work but they must be ready to find employment for youths drafted from schools and colleges "who never had a job in their lives".

Delegates to yesterday's conference agreed to meet again within 30 days to report progress on appointing committeemen to survey local labor needs and sound out employers on their readiness to hire partially-disabled veterans.

Ingelfritz said civic, business, agriculture, labor and industrial representatives should be appointed to each committee to assure maximum coverage of employment fields.

The clearing house committee, an offshoot of the American Legion, is pledged to securing employment for every veteran of World War II and to find work for civilians displaced by servicemen.

"It shall be the function of the committees to organize the employment resources of the community," Ingelfritz declared. "It is primarily up to industry to re-employ the men after the war before enforcing the legal rights guaranteed them."

"We must investigate, arbitrate and educate in all cases involving disputes over placements,'" he added.

Charles A. Aucker, Altoona assemblyman, was elected president of the clearing house committee and took issue with the proposal that veterans organizations attempt to find employment for civilians replaced by servicemen.

"We'd be stepping out of our field," he declared. "I feel that we should take care of the veterans alone." Re-employment of displaced civilians should be a problem for employment agencies, he added.

Gov. Edward Martin addressed the meeting briefly and pledged the commonwealth's aid in assisting the committee to meet its employment goals. He predicted that more than 800,000 members of the armed forces would need some assistance in returning to civilian employment.

Participating in the program were the American Legion, the Disabled American Veterans, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council (CIO), the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor (AFL), the Kiwanis International, the Rotary International, the National Exchange club and the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce.

Need Only 6000 Miles Of Highway For State System

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's road network was only 6,000 miles short today of the total mileage considered necessary by Gov. Edward Martin to give the state a maximum highway system.

"We have reached the point," he explained, "where the construction of six thousand miles of highways will provide an adequate system."

The department of highways explained that only approximately 6,500 miles of unpaved rural roads remained in Pennsylvania and that their improvement would boost the state's highway system to 46,600 miles. The commonwealth assumed control of the roads under the Sproul Act of 1911. Extension of the road system must await the end of the war.

Governor Martin has stated that a $500,000,000 highway program has been drafted for the postwar era. An estimated $100,000,000 surplus which is expected to be in the state's coffers at the end of the current biennium, in May 1945, will be set aside to aid the state finance improvements suggested by the 10-member post war planning commission.

"I talked to members of the legislature and they agree with me that the thing to do is to freeze that money for postwar work," the governor said.

Other postwar projects will include reforestation, airport improvements and anti-stream pollution, he added.

Over 3,000,000 In State Register For Liquor Purchase

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21. — (INS) —The State Liquor Control Board hailed today an estimated $24,000,000 profit on sales totaling $150,926,415 during 1943 despite a serious liquor shortage throughout the year.

The board disclosed that 3,016,150 persons, including 66,328 soldiers, registered for rationing between November 15 and December 31.

The board reported that last year's sales were $10,823,800 over 1942 but the total gallonage of wines and spirits sold was 4,687,447 below the all-time record of 20,309,029 sold in 1942. Last year's profits, the board added, approximated 1942 reports. The 10 per cent emergency tax earmarked for relief yielded an estimated $11,916,990 last year.

"Because of the scarcity of whiskey," the board stated, "the availability of all brands was restricted during 1943. Many popular-priced domestic whiskies had been removed from the market. In many instances, such domestic whiskies as were available for sale were in the higher brackets."

The board revealed that the whiskey shortage spurred sales of imported rums and brandies, gins and wines. The report disclosed that 9,952,678 gallons of spirits were sold last year, compared with 14,167,384 in 1942. Wine sales in 1943 totaled 5,662,904 gallons, compared with 6,135,195 the previous year.

Some Liquidation Of Live Stock Is Likely In State

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Some liquidation of livestock, particularly hogs and poultry, and a reduction of "rates of feeding" of all farm animals was predicted today by Dr. G. W. Hedlund, head of the Department of Agricultural Economics at Pennsylvania State College.

He told the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association at the 28th annual state farm show that the number of "dry cows" has been unusually high because of a shortage of concentrated feeds.

"In view of the overall shortage of feed it would seem highly unlikely that Pennsylvania will be able to buy much more feed than was bought last year," he asserted. "Therefore, I expect some liquidation of livestock, particularly hogs and poultry, and a reduction of rates of feeding of all livestock."

Young Cripples Are Aiding War

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Pittsburgh district children, although victims of a dread disease, are playing their own important roles in America's war effort for 1944 and contributing to victory and future peace.

The children, inmates in the D. T. Watson Home For Crippled Children in Leetsdale, are restricted physically, most of them as a result of infantile paralysis afflictions. But these youngsters are now serving as "practice patients," for members of the Women's Army Corps who are studying methods of physical therapy.

Indirectly, the young cripples will help many an American soldier, wounded in distant battlefields, back to health and a satisfying place in the post-war world.

Sixteen WACS are stationed at the 140-acre "Sunny Hill" farm which houses the crippled children's home. The girls are studying treatment of patients in the D. T. Watson school of physical therapy, associted with the University of Pittsburgh. They learn the methods by which the crippled children, as well as adults have been brought back to use of afflicted limbs. Later, their patients will be army men and women wounded in the war.

Many of the youthful patients have brothers in the armed forces and are proud to think they, themselves, are working with Uncle Sam's army.

LESS MEN IN 'BIG HOUSE'

OSSINING, N. Y.—(INS)—The population of Sing Sing prison has decreased 43 per cent in the last four years, officials revealed today. Inmates now number 1,775.

See why Oval-shape soap LASTS LONGER!

Thrifty SweetHeart Soap is oval in shape—rounded top and bottom. Unlike many soaps that lie flat, SweetHeart's big oval cake touches the surface in only one small part. Thus air dries it off fast . . . helps avoid wasteful "jelly" in the wet soap dish . . . and SweetHeart Soap stays in one firm piece down to a tiny fragrant sliver. Among eight leading brands only long lasting SweetHeart Soap is oval in shape.

State Is Facing Great Problem

Pennsylvania To Face Greater Unemployment Than Other States When Peace Returns

WILL BE 800,000 RETURNING HOME

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—(INS)—An ambitious program to provide "a job for every veteran" after the war was launched Thursday at the state capital amid a warning from Gov. Edward Martin that Pennsylvania faces "greater unemployment than any other state" when peace returns.

A score of representatives of veterans organizations civic groups, business associations and labor met in the senate chamber to consider one of the state's most pressing post-war problems and formed the "Pennsylvania State Clearing House Committee for Veterans' Employment." Rep. Charles A. Auker, Altoona Republican, was elected president.

The committee's purpose, as outlined by Governor Martin and other speakers, will be to coordinate and prevent the duplication of the efforts of various organizations with the same general aim.

"Pennsylvania faces greater unemployment than any other state," the chief executive told the assembled group. He estimated that an approximate 800,000 men and women in the armed forces from this state would be seeking jobs after the war. Included among them will be "an enormous number of wounded," he said, and these must be re-trained for useful occupations.

The program advanced by the committee calls for (1) the employment of all honorably discharged veterans (2) the employment of all persons ousted from their jobs by veterans and (3) the preservation of free enterprise and labor.

"I appreciate very much what you are doing," Governor Martin stated "there probably will be duplication of effort, but what we must do is break this down into local committees. That will get greater results than a state organization."

"The state of Pennsylvania will, in its activities, try to avoid duplicating what you do," he continued. "We will make a survey and fill in the gaps left by you and then if the federal government fills in the gaps, we'll have a pretty good organization. We have a bigger job here than any other state in the union." He promised the committee his wholehearted support.

Present at the meeting were Edward A. Linsky, adjutant of the Pennsylvania department, American Legion; Clifford Gnau, adjutant of the Pennsylvania department, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Curtis Haube, adjutant of the Pennsylvania department, Disabled War Veterans of America; John Phillips, president of the State Industrial Union Council (C.I.O.); Reuben Miller, Pennsylvania Federation of Labor (A.F.L.); S. S. Riddle, Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce; and representatives of the Kiwanis International, Lions international, National Exchange club and the United States Chamber of Commerce and its junior-affiliated organization.

Assert Heligoland Has Been Evacuated

LONDON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Transocean, the German propaganda agency, asserted today that the civil population of Heligoland has been evacuated.

The dispatch gave no immediate details of the evacuation of the island, which lies some 36 miles west of the Schlewsig Holstein coast of the German mainland.

'A Tree Grows In Brooklyn,' 'Under Cover' In Top Spot

Asked what books are most in demand at the public library, Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, said today that as indicated by the number of circulations and reservations on popular books, "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" and "The Robe" lead the fiction list this week.

Among non-fiction, "Under Cover" and "Here Is Your War" are the top two.

Order of popularity of the eight current favorite books of fiction and leading ten in the non-fiction classification is as follows:

Fiction

Smith, Betty—"A Tree Grows in Brooklyn."
Douglas, L. C.—"Robe."
Marquand, J. P.—"So Little Time."
Asch, Sholem—"The Apostle."
Chase, Ilka—"In Bed We Cry."
Keyes, F. P.—"Also the Hills."
O'Hara, Mary—"Thunderhead."
Davenport, Marcia—"Valley of Decision."

General

Carlson, J. R.—"Under Cover."
Pyle, Ernie—"Here Is Your War."
Scott, R. L.—"God Is My Co-Pilot."
Hynd, Alan—"Betrayal from the East."
Seagrave, G. S.—"Burma Surgeon."
Holt, Rackham—"George Washington Carver."
Shiber, Etta—"Paris Underground"
Curie, Eve—"Journey Among Warriors."
Lippmann, Walter—"U. S. Foreign Policy."
Fosdick, H. E.—"On Being a Real Person."

Price Control For Rabbits Is Fixed

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The Harrisburg district OPA office announced today that wild rabbits sold for meat will be brought under price control at wholesale level on Jan. 26 at the maximum price of 30 cents a head.

This compares with previously established wholesale maximum prices of 44 cents a pound for dressed rabbits. The OPA said it had learned that larger amounts of wild rabbits are being sold in the commercial market and in some cases at higher wholesale prices than the retail ceiling.

Head Of Legion Denounces War Industry Strikes

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(INS)—"Treason is lending aid and comfort to the enemy. The loss of planes and ships through work stoppage is aiding and comforting Hitler. That's why it's treason!"

With these words Warren H. Atherton, national commander of the American Legion, on Thursday condemned strikes in war industry, while praising AFL and CIO workers who reached peaks of production last November and December.

The commander spoke his mind at a testimonial luncheon in his honor.

"I commend everyone at the lathe and drill press who kept President William Green's and President Philip Murry's promises to remain at work for the duration." He said: "I denounce as traitors those who defied our commander-in-chief and their own leaders, who turned deaf ears to the prayers of mothers whose sons are in action and stopped production. They are prolonging the war, and the blood of American boys will forever stain their hands."

BULGARIAN SPY SCARE

CAIRO—(INS)—Sofia night clubs have been closed as the result of a Bulgarian spy scare, based on alleged activities of Allied agents and propagandists, especially Russians. Night clubs, a Bulgarian official announcement said, are 'fields of activity for foreign women who commit espionage."

FOOD DEALERS WARNED

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Food retailers in the 10-county Harrisburg OPA area were warned by the district office today that hundreds may find themselves without ration tokens when the new ration point program goes into effect on Feb. 27.

The Harrisburg district OPA office said many retailers have failed so far to apply for the new fibre ration currency.

FALL IS FATAL

ALTOONA, Pa., Jan. 21.—(INS)—Injuries sustained in a 40-foot fall down a ventilating shaft while helping to install furnaces had proved fatal to Walter Hudson, 22, of Glenlyn, Va.

Hudson, employed by the Burns & Roe Company, was working at the Pennsylvania Edison Company power plant at Williamsburg, Blair county, when the accident occurred. He is survived by his widow and two children.

A WORLD UPSIDE DOWN

LONDON—(INS)—Mrs. Iphigene Bettman of Cincinnati, O., a guest lecturer for the British Ministry of Information, declared in a London broadcast that no one in Britain today is living a normal life. The soldier at the front, bombed civilians, women conscripted for essential industries and children in youth organizations, she said, have had their lives completely upset. She gave her impressions following a two-month tour.

PHILADELPHIA CITY EMPLOYES STRIKE NEAR END

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—(INS)—End of the 15-day strike of 3,000 municipal employes in the Quaker City was in sight today as negotiators agreed on a four-point plan calling for termination of the work stoppage and a wage increase of approximately five cents an hour.

The agreement will be submitted to a special meeting of the general membership of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes (A.F.L.) tomorrow for final acceptance or rejection. Approval by city council is also needed.

The proposed settlement calls for $530,000 in immediate increases—equivalent to five cents an hour—and provides for further negotiations "at future dates" on the question of additional raises. The city representatives agreed there was "merit" in the demand for a 10-cent increase which precipitated the strike.

Under the plan employes would return to work "immediately," but Robert Lonergan, international representative of the union, said in no event would they return until after tomorrow's meeting.

If they accept, the men will start tackling on Monday morning the estimated 40,000-ton accumulation of refuse which has threatened public health and safety during the past two weeks.

Last night's negotiations were spurred by a threat of a general strike of private garbage and rubbish collectors in sympathy with the city strikers unless "an adjustment" was affected by morning.

Governor Opposes College Proposal

Voices Opposition To Government Plans For 'Indoctrination' Centers In State

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin voiced opposition today to any move by state or federal officials to transform Pennsylvania's colleges into "governmental indoctrination centers" after the war.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Association of College Presidents at the state capitol this afternoon, the governor said his warning was prompted by a proposed postwar educational program for veterans under the supervision of the federal government.

Members were slated to re-elect Dr. Levering Tyson, head of Muhlenberg college to head the association for another year and to outline a liberal peacetime education program.

Governor Martin said that the government has not attempted to supervise educational policies for institutions currently being used as military training centers but indicated he feared some control might be attempted.

"It is now expected that after the war the federal government will organize a broad plan of education for the demobilized men and women of the armed forces," he stated. "We all agree that the suspended and interrupted education of our young people should be completed as far as possible. We cannot have a 'lost generation,' gone forever from our colleges, universities and professional schools."

"However, neither the federal nor the state governments should have any part in the direction of the policies of the institutions attended by these students," the governor declared. "The education offered them should be non-political and non-sectarian and in the tradition of freedom always enjoyed by Americans."

TENT HALL

In honor of Helen Virginia McCreary's 18th birthday, her cousin Reta Mae Campbell entertained a group of girls at her home Monday evening. Games were enjoyed in which several received prizes. A tempting lunch was served at the conclusion, the honor guest received many nice gifts.

Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pretzer had as dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Steese, of Volant, their daughter of Pittsburgh, and mother, New Castle, and Pfc. and Mrs. Clarence Steese of Camp Breckenridge, Ky., Mrs. Snyder and daughter of Gary, Ind.

Emma Grace Kuhn is greatly improved since her operation for appendicitis a week ago at the Jameson hospital, New Castle.

Pfc. Clarence P. Steese and wife, of Camp Breckenridge, Ky., were called home the last of the week by the death of the former's grandfather, W. H. Stroeble of New Castle. They returned to camp Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kretzer and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Baird and daughter, and Mrs. Grace Kuhn, were 6 o'clock dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Campbell in honor of Mrs. Kretzer's birthday.

Mrs. C. E. Campbell spent Thursday in Youngstown, attending the wedding and reception for Mr. and Mrs. Joe Chaurett's daughter, Mable.

Mrs F. A. Montgomery visited Mrs. Jessie Edgar, Elmer Meyers and Emma Grace Kuhn, in the Jameson hospital, Monday afternoon.

Pfc. Clarence P. Steese and wife of Camp Breckenridge, Ky., spent the week end with her folks, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kretzer, and all spent Monday at Volant with his folks, Mr. an Mrs. Clark Steese.

DYNAMITE IN COAL

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(INS)—John Ozbort, 55-year-old stoker, thanked his lucky stars today that he had paused long enough to take a second look at that strange object mixed in with a shovelful of coal that he was about to toss into the furnace at a swanky midtown apartment house.

Members of the police bomb squad, who arrived on the double after a hurried call from Ozbort, confirmed his fears—the object was an eight-inch stick of dynamite. It was assumed that the dynamite was dropped by a coal digger at the mine, and somehow escaped notice in transportation.

LEESBURG

The Women's Missionary society will hold an all day meeting at the church on Wednesday. At noon a dinner will be served by the hostesses, Mrs. Lillie Donley, Mrs. Ellen Kauffman and Mrs. Blanche Hedglin. Leader, Mrs. Elizabeth Drake.

R. W. Cunningham and M. W. Cunningham attended the funeral of J. O. Bowers of Washington, D. C., which was held at Pittsburgh.

The many friends of William Royle will be glad to learn that he has been dismissed from the Grove City hospital where he has been a patient for the past 12 weeks recovering from injuries which he received while working on the road. He and his mother, Mrs. William Royle, Sr., of Grove City spent a day with Mrs. Orville Rudolph.

Mrs. Blanche Hedglin, Mrs. Anna Kelly and Mrs. John Hayne spent Wednesday with Mrs. Ed Craft at Grove City.

Alien Patents To Be Displayed

G.N.C.A. Asked To Invite It's Members To Attend Showing In Pittsburgh

Beginning February 7, at noon and continuing through Thursday, February 10, the Smaller War Plants Corporation in conjunction with the office of alien property custodian will display approximately 45,000 enemy and non-enemy patents and patent applications in the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce building.

The exhibit will be opened by Hon. Floyd Chalfant, secretary of the Department of Commerce, representing Governor Edward Martin. Pittsburgh city officials and officials of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce will be present also.

An invitation has been received in the Greater New Castle Association office and through the association Roged W. Jewett, executive vice president, has been asked to extend an invitation to all members of the association.

Many of the patents will be of value to manufacturers both now and after the war. Technicians from the alien property custodian's office will be on hand to assist manufacturers in inspecting the patents.

Help wartime meals two ways with California navel oranges

the HIGH-VITAMIN ORANGE JUICE

More Vitamins Per Glass

1. Get off to a better start in the morning by enjoying a 6 to 8 ounce glass of delicious California Navel orange juice at breakfast. You'll get all the important vitamin C you need each day...for California Navels give you the HIGH-VITAMIN JUICE. Five years of independent scientific tests prove they have more vitamin C, more vitamin A, more calcium per glass, plus valuable amounts of B_1, B_2 (G) and other minerals.

BEST FOR JUICE

SEEDLESS—easy to peel, slice, section

More Ways to Use Them

2. Nature made the seedless California Navel oranges ideal for adding color and variety to wartime meals. They're easier to slice and section for delicious salads, fruit cups, and desserts. Use them to top off a well-balanced box lunch. And give them to the children as a nutritious between-meal snack. (They are perfect to peel and eat!) No other orange helps so many ways to make up for the canned fruit shortage.

and Every use!

THE NAVEL MEANS SEEDLESS

No straining . . . no waste. "Sunkist" stamped on the skin identifies the finest fruit from 14,500 cooperating California-Arizona growers. Have a good supply of Sunkist Oranges on hand. They're good "keepers." BEST FOR JUICE—and Every use!

Thousands Of Articles Left On Street Cars

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—If you've lost your wooden leg or false teeth while riding in Pennsylvania Railroad or Pittsburgh Railway Company cars, don't give up hope.

The companies, among other concerns, have efficient lost-and-found departments which really make an effort to locate owners of lost property, whether it be money or sailors' shipping papers or such inconsequential articles as cheap books and potted plants.

The Pennsylvania Railroad's lost-and-found department resembles a second-hand store, with a little bit of everything left behind by its forgetful passengers.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company, in 1943 recovered 27,517 lost articles, including $7,000 in cash, from trolleys and buses. In 1942 about 20,000 items and $5,600 in cash were recovered.

The increase in the number of lost articles keeps pace with the rise in the number of passengers carried in war-time transportation, officials explained.

World Day Of Prayer Committee Announced

Nominating committee for the Women's Missionary Union of this city to prepare a slate of officers for election at the annual World Day of Prayer was announced today by Mrs. Kenneth C. Lutz, president. It is as follows:

Mrs. Clarence Thayer, chairman; Mrs. James Blackwood, Mrs. R. G. Eakin and Mrs. R. E. Elmore.

This is the group in charge of the World Day of Prayer which this year will be on February 25 with all churches of the city cooperating.

Guest church for the Day of Prayer has not yet been decided. This will be announced at a later meeting of the Missionary Union.

OCD NOTES

Activities Of OCD Workers Are Outlined Here

Air raid wardens and fire guards who are in need of more stirrup pumps can obtain them through a group leader or property officer. Some who have procured them have arranged them at the city hall warehouse, which is at the corner of East and Sycamore streets. There are also plenty of helmets available for persons over 15 years of age who can get them by applying through their proper channels.

RELATIONS MAINTAINED

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica.—(INS)—Friction with Guatemala involving refusal of a visa for Arch-bishop Victor Sanabria to attend the recent Eucharistic Congress, was not serious enough to result in a diplomatic break, Foreign Minister Alberto Echandi Montero announced. The archbishop meantime asked his friends to cancel plans for a demonstration in his honor.

Memorial Service Honors Pfc. Koch

Memorial services for Pfc. John Koch, who was killed in action in Italy on December 10, were held Sunday evening at the Hungarian Baptist church.

Before his induction into the army in May 1942, Pfc. Koch had been secretary of the church Sunday school and an officer of the Young People's group of the church. He had been overseas since April, 1943, first in North Africa, later in Italy.

He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Koch, and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Pete Balogh, Mrs. L. Genty, Mrs. H. Stanley, Rose, Ruth, Pvt. Alexander of Los Angeles, Calif., and Pfc. William in England.

At DeRosa's....
THE MEAT TREAT OF 1944

Mr. DeRosa has always handled the best meat that could be obtained says: "In all my years as a meat man I have never offered the public as good beef as this is." So when an expert makes such a statement, the cattle must be good.

For the past sixteen months at the Hoyt Farm on the Youngstown Road a herd of the finest Heresford Cattle has been raised in the most scientific method in order to produce the best beef cattle that could be obtained anywhere in the world.

The efforts of Mr. Hoyt and his assistants have far exceeded their fondest hopes for the cattle they have produced would have taken prizes at any stock show in the world.

The DeRosa Market, always on the alert for the BEST Beef for their customers, have purchased this herd of PRIZE CATTLE and will offer the meat for sale to the people of New Castle and Lawrence Co. beginning tomorrow, Saturday morning.

Remember your Ration Points will go as far with quality beef as they will with inferior beef. Make up your mind now and have a steak or a roast for your Sunday dinner.

Champion Grandma Cook Of Country Is Feted In New York

Scranton Woman Triumphs Over 1,000 Grandmas All Over Nation

By JEANETTE SMITS
(I N S Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—A plump, cheerful woman of 50, who found time to win innumerable contests while bringing up 11 children in Scranton, Pa., was in New York Thursday being feted as the "champion grandma cook of the country."

Mrs. Mary Sossong, who won the title for her old-fashioned molasses recipe for gingerbread, triumphing over 1,000 grandmas all over the country, greeted reporters with the frank statement:

"I've never cooked anything in my life without a recipe. I'm the nervous type. What's more, I didn't even know how to boil water when I was married 30 years ago. My husband, Nicholas, a railroad man, taught me everything I know about cooking."

Beaming placidly, Mrs. Sossong revealed that the number eleven seems to have a mystic significance in her life. Not only has she eleven children—she also has eleven grandchildren and eleven nephews (all the latter in the service) and she belongs to eleven local clubs.

"It would be nice," she said, "if I could add that I won eleven contests—but there were more than that. Once I won seventeen pairs of roller skates. Another time, I got thirteen watches in a contest, and on another occasion, 75 pounds of meat—most of which I gave away.

The "champion grandma cook," who won the second annual conservation cooking contest sponsored by the American Grandmas Association, Inc., will be greeted by Acting President Newbold Morris. On Monday, she'll be in Washington to confer with Senator James Davis of Pittsburgh, and Congressman James Murphy of Scranton.

"It's about diapers," said Mrs. Sossong firmly. "There just aren't enough diapers being provided for the babies. I am bringing down a petition from the Scranton Chapter of the American War Mothers, of which I'm the president. Maybe Congress can do something about the situation."

Mrs. Sossong's own children, six in number, range in age from 14 to 29, and the other five are foster children—sons and daughters of her husband by a previous marriage—but, she says, "I count them all as my own."

Crime On Vacation In Luzerne County

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 21.—(INS)—Blame it on the war or whatever you will, but crime has gone into the doldrums in Luzerne county.

As a result, two wings and one section of the Luzerne county jail have been closed and now the county commissioners are considering laying off from four to 10 prison employes.

County Commissioners Herman C. Kersteen and Robert Lloyd said they would recommend payless furloughs for the employes to the board of prison commissioners. They added that "Luzerne county prison has its lowest population in years."

Merchant Seamen Get Swimming Tips

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—(INS)—New merchant seamen awaiting assignments to ships receive swimming tips at a Central Philadelphia Y. M. C. A. on how to battle sharks and how to escape from a torpedoed vessel.

Under the coaching of Gordon Mullen, Y. M. C. A. aquatic director, the fledgling seamen fresh from the U. S. maritime training station at Sheepshead Bay or Hoffman island learn it is best to swim quietly and slowly to avoid being spotted by sharks or barracuda. Should the deep-sea killers close in, the seamen are told that lots of thrashing about with arms and legs and shouting will ward off the monsters.

To prepare themselves for the emergency of jumping 25 or 30 feet from a torpedoed ship into cold water, the seamen practice dropping into the pool with one hand held over nose and mouth, locking that arm with the other and crossing the legs.

They are told that the best way to swim through flaming oil is by using a splashing breaststroke or underwater swimming. If they swim three feet under water even a 50-calibre machine gun bullet will fail to harm them.

Mullen teaches some of the seamen to swim in a half-hour. He starts beginners off with paddling in "doggy" fashion as this is the quickest stroke to learn, is least tiring and keeps most of the body under water, an important item when shells and bullets are flying about.

M.M.P.M. Church To Install New Officers Sunday

WAC Keeps Busy Writing Letters To Keep Up Morale

INDIANTOWN GAP MILITARY RESERVATION, Pa., Jan. 21.—(INS)—When Pvt. Bessie E. Heer isn't busy with her duties in the WAC detachment at Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, she's usually writing letters to members of the armed forces to keep up their morale.

And the members of the armed forces who receive her letters are also members of her family. Pvt. Heer, whose home is in Waterloo, Ia., enlisted in the WAC shortly after her younger son, Seaman Second Class James Heer, entered the navy. He is now aboard a subchaser in the Pacific.

Her letters also go to her husband, Pfc Earl Heer, with the army in Iran hauling American supplies to the Russians; her older son, Bombardier Robert Heer, a Jap prisoner on Formosa, and her daughter Evelyn, a WAC corporal stationed at Michell Field, N. Y., as a radio operator.

COLLEGE GETS GIFTS

EASTON, Pa., Jan. 21.—(INS)—President William Mather Lewis reveals that gifts of more than $78,000 have been made in recent weeks to Lafayette college for the postwar building endowment and scholarship fund.

One of the scholarships will be in memory of William P. Coughlin, Lafayette baseball coach for nearly 25 years, who died last May.

Alameda Park Is Purchased

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 21.—Rev. R. F. Heinlein of Meridian, superintendent of the Pittsburgh district of the Church of the Nazarene, announced late today the purchase of the 57-acre Alameda park, one-time popular amusement resort west of Butler, for the church.

The park will be used for religious and educational purposes and camp meetings will be held there during June, July and August, Mr. Heinlein said.

Title to the property will be taken in the names of trustees, the Rev. George H. Cole, Waynesburg; the Rev. Paul H. Andre, Monongahela, and Laymen L. G. Fury, New Castle, and Maurice E. Emery of Warren, district treasurer. The district embraces 69 churches.

Your Chances of Driving Are Slim-

UNLESS you realize that the tires on your car have been placed in your trust by the government... you treat them well by careful and sane driving... heed the advice of your tire expert and have them repaired or recapped when necessary.

Look Tire Facts in the Face

Don't be misled by the optimistic promise of new tires. There are not sufficient tires for civilian needs and there will not be enough at any time during 1944. Repairing and recapping are the one sure means of maintaining motor travel. The obligation is yours as much as it is ours.

WHAT THE TIRE SHORTAGE MEANS

To Truck Operators:

In order to keep rolling, tires need constant care, trucks cannot be over-loaded or unbalanced. To keep operating, tires must be checked regularly. As replacements are not being manufactured in large enough quantities, repairing and recapping must be done at the proper time in order to save every valuable casing.

To Civilian Drivers:

Restrictions on new tires will be more severe than ever. Many tires have not had service for more than a year. Therefore, they are on the critical list and need attention now for inspection and possible repairing or recapping. Your independent tire serviceman is the best source for advice on how to maintain motor travel.

Tires Need More Expert Service, More Regular Inspection than Ever Before. Heed the Advice of Tire Repairmen who are Experienced, who can Keep You Rolling during the Emergency that is Now at Hand.

URGES CONTROL OF EMOTIONS IN WAR TIME

By L. W. MICHAELSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

BOULDER, Colo., Jan. 21.—Today's greatest problem in education is "the training of the emotions, to the ends that men may bear up more calmly in times of stress and feel more deeply the significance of democracy and freedom.'

Such is the belief of Dr. George F. Reynolds, head of Colorado University's English department and well known scholar in the fields of American literature. Dr. Reynolds spoke recently on "Not Time's Fool" at a convocation sponsored by the lecture committee.

Difficult To Change

"As Shakespeare said of friendship in one of his sonnets, the emotions, because of their persistence, are 'not time's fool,' and therefore they are most difficult to change," Dr. Reynolds asserted.

Emphasizing that "better individuals make a more substantial nation," the English department head pointed out that the "training of the emotions is a matter of many disciplines—psychology, religion, and the arts among others."

"The end to be secured is not the suppression of the emotion (except the morbid ones like self-pity and socially destructive ones like hatred and prejudice), but rather to make individuals more responsive in situations which demand stimulus and more discriminating in judging those situations."

Imagination Helpful

To illustrate how imaginative literature may assist in training emotions, Dr. Reynolds read from a letter sent by a former student, now a Marine in the South Pacific:

"'The men who bear up best in the vast emptiness of the Pacific, in the terrors of the jungle, and the hideousness of actual combat are not the practically minded, strong men upon whom this comes with unprepared horror, but rather those who have been through them already in imagination.'

"We have all to some extent shared this experience," the speaker commented. "Fiction, plays, poetry—in them we have seen men behave with courage and have admired them, or with brutality and we have hated them, or with cowardice and we have scorned them, and so we too have learned to meet trying situations."

Self-Pity Destroys Men

Training of the emotions should aim first at discouraging undesirable ones "such as, to quote the prayer-book, 'envy, hatred, malice, and all uncharitableness,' and perhaps more characteristic of our times, corrosive pessimism, shallow optimism, and self pity," Dr. Reynolds said.

"An attendant in an army hospital writes me, 'I've seen self-pity and infantisism in many men in this war, and it is this personality inadequacy, not combat shock, that unfits them and destroys them for a normal life after their return from over-seas."

Farmers Conclude State Farm Show

Delegates Returning To Homes From Sessions At State Capital

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Several thousand farmer-delegates were returning to their homes today following conclusion of the 28th annual state farm show which closed last night after three days of meetings at the state capital.

Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst termed the show a success although it lacked the colorful public exhibits which annually attracted more than half a million spectators from all parts of the state. Because of the war they have been dispensed with.

The Martin cabinet official also told the Pennsylvania Cooperative Potato Growers' Association at its annual banquet last night that "it is evident that Pennsylvania agriculture is becoming more 'industry-minded.'"

"There has been shown here a distinct trend cooperation in the matter of conducting the business of producing, marketing and distributing food," he asserted. "This trend definitely points the way to our post-war agriculture...But as our farmers prepare for this post-war agriculture it is absolutely necessary that they have sufficient freedom from governmental directives and controls."

A resolution urging Gov. Edward Martin to continue his efforts to obtain approval of milk control commission orders increasing the price of milk despite the opposition of the office of price administration was adopted by the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association at its annual meeting last night.

The dairymen termed federal subsidies to milk producers "inadvisable as a substitute for adequate prices" and labeled them "inflationary...in conflict with the principles of democracy and free agriculture...(and) a further step toward bureaucratic control."

Legion Of Honor Has Fine Program

Lt. Murray Armentrout Explains Program At Westminster College

Members of the Legion of Honor, of the Valley of New Castle Consistory, enjoyed an interesting program in their meeting rooms in the Cathedral Thursday evening, when Lt. Murray Armentrout, commander of the Naval Aviation Cadet unit at Westminster college, explained the program which is under the U. S. Navy and C.A.P. In addition, a group of talking pictures was shown through Lieutenant Armentrout's courtesy, showing the Navy's air program, and action pictures taken in the Pacific area.

Commander Fred M. Alexander, appointed a committee consisting of James E. Thomas, Ralph B. Hayes, Leal Calvin and Earl Moffatt, to assist General Chairman C. C. Sweesy with the tickets for the annual patriotic dinner sponsored by the Legion of Honor during the month of February. This will take place on February 17, and the speaker will be Judge Walter W. Braham, who will speak on "Lincoln."

Members of the Order of Builders were guests of the Legion of Honor for the program last evening, the meeting being one of the most outstanding held in recent months.

ED WYNN'S MOTHER DIES AFTER ILLNESS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 21.—(INS)—Mrs. Minnie Leopold, 78 mother of radio comedian Ed Wynn, was dead today at her Atlantic City home after a lengthy illness. Her husband, Joseph, a Philadelphia millinery manufacturer, died in 1924.

At her bedside last night when she passed away were the famed radio comedian and his brother, Leon Leopold, manager of a Philadelphia theatre.

MEAT CUTTING AND CANNING TO BE DEMONSTRATED

Miss Lydia Tarrant, extension nutritionist and C. A. Burge, extension animal husbandryman of Pennsylvanina State College, will demonstrate the most satisfactory methods of cutting the beef carcass and of canning meat.

Two demonstrations have been scheduled for Tuesday, January 25. The first demonstration will be held at 10 a. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Offutt of Plaingrove. At 1:30 p. m. another demonstration will be given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Aiken, of the Ellwood City-Portersville road, near Portersville.

FRUIT GROWERS TO MEET

Arrangements have been completed for the annual fruit day program which will be held on Monday, January 24 in the Y.M.C.A. building, New Castle starting at 10 o'clock.

This meeting will provide an opportunity for fruit growers to discuss their problems and to learn of the best methods of producing sound fruit. A number of local growers will give brief talks on their experience. Included in this group are Lauren Thompson and Rankin Johnston of New Wilmington; W. C. Hileman and Carl Baldwin of New Castle; and A. F. Arnold of Enon Valley.

J. U. Ruef, extension pomologist from the Pennsylvania State College will talk on "The Fruit Grower and the War", while Henry Menusan and Allen H. Bauer also of State College, will tell how insects and diseases can be controlled.

RATE OF CAPITAL TURN-OVER INFLUENCES FARM INCOME

Studies of farm records in Pennsylvania show that a close relationship exists between the rate of capital turnover and farm income. On farms where the gross income per year falls below 25 per cent of the average capital investment, the year's operations usually show a loss, while the greater the gross income above the 25 per cent figure, the greater are the chances of a profit.

Fixed charges on farms do not vary much from year to year. Interest, taxes and insurance change rather slowly; and building and equipment must be repaired. Because of the necessity of meeting these yearly expenses, the farm income must be sufficient to cover them as well as the current expenses.

At the present time, many farmers in Lawrence county are considering the purchase of new machinery as soon as it is available. Before purchasing any machine, a farmer should ask himself if he has sufficient work for the machine to justify the investment, if the machine will save labor, do the job better or add to the farm income. Unless these tests can be met, it is usually wise to avoid making the purchase.

EXTENSION ASSOCIATION TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

H. N. Reist, extension specialist in agricultural economics from Pennsylvania State College, will address the annual meeting of the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension Association on the subject, "Agriculture in War and Peace".

This meeting will be held on Thursday, January 27 in the Court House, New Castle, starting at 10:30 a. m. A number of Lawrence county people will report on extension activities in their communities during the morning session.

KNOW PATTERN BEFORE CUTTING INTO MATERIAL

Getting acquainted with the pattern is one of the first things women should do before cutting into dress materials. This is not only a safeguard against mistakes but also gives a birdseye view of what must be done.

All patterns carry definite markings, though two makes of patterns may not be marked the same. These markings are an aid in laying out the pattern on the material, which pieces are laid lengthwise with the thread of the material, and which pieces are laid on the fold of the fabric. Points where two seams are to be joined, where darts and tucks and shirrings are to be made also are marked.

Seam allowances are indicated on some patterns by marks. On others the amount allowed for seams is stated on the instruction sheet only. Unfortunately the seam allowance is not the same on all makes of patterns but varies from three-eighths to three-fourths of an inch. If the allowance is too small it does not allow for any alteration. In such cases, it would be desireable to allow for bigger seams.

Hem allowance, waistline, and center front of dress usually are marked in some way. Pattern instruction sheets also indicate with drawings where alterations in length of pattern are to be made. After checking all marks and pieces of patterns carefully, read the directions and check them with the pattern.

There are approximately 100 Negro colleges in the United States.

District Becomes Test Tube Area

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Western Pennsylvania today became a "test tube" area of the War Production Board under a plan in which small plants will be able to use idle and surplus metals without restriction.

Under the reconversion test plan, civilian goods so manufactured could be sold without regard to the priority standing of the purchasers, government sources reported. The plan will provide both government and industry with experience in handling reconversion problems.

Other areas selected by Donald M. Nelson, head of the WPB, were Kansas City and Cleveland.

FISH WARDENS SPEAK

The duties of a fish warden were outlined by Clinton B. White of New Wilmington in addressing the Greenville Rotary club at the Riverview hotel Tuesday.

Mr. White is the State Fish Commission warden for Mercer and Lawrence counties.

Another guest at the meeting was Samuel K. Weigel of Mercer, who is game warden for Mercer county.

Fresh Mystery In Washington Letter 'Thriller'

Failure To Summon Hopkins Or Briggs To Testify In Probe Causes Comment

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Fresh mystery was injected into Washington's forgery thriller today by the failure of the justice department to summon either Harry L. Hopkins, presidential adviser, or George N. Briggs, aide to Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes, before a federal grand jury now investigating the forging of Hopkins' name to a White House letter.

C. Nelson Sparks, former mayor of Akron, published the letter in his book, "One Man—Wendell Willkie." It purported to show Hopkins favored Willkie for the GOP nomination in 1944. Sparks declared the letter "was made available to me by Ickes through Briggs."

Ickes has denied this and after Hopkins branded the letter a forgery, suspended Briggs from his post in the interior department. Ickes has denied any and all connection with the forged letter.

Mystery In Washington

The mystery in Washington, however, is why hasn't Hopkins or Briggs been called before the grand jury. Hopkins has told friends that he requested the right to go before the jury to give his side of the story.

Special Assistant Attorney General Henry A. Schweinhaut, questioned about the investigation, said he had no plans to call Briggs. He offered no explanation why Hopkins' request to be heard was being ignored.

The National Petroleum News meanwhile poured gasoline on the long standing Hopkins-Ickes feud by publishing a story in its current issue declaring Hopkins was supplanting Ickes as head of the government's foreign oil organization. The magazine asserted that Hopkins was becoming "major domo" of American oil policies with Ickes being merely stuck in a show window.

Significant Facts

Some significant facts have been developed in the federal inquiry into the forged White House letter. These include:

1. Eight letters, made public by Sparks to support his publication of the forged Hopkins letter, which he said were written him by Briggs, were actually typed on a typewriter located in Briggs' office in the interior department. The letters covered negotiations for the forged document.

2. The forged letter itself, bearing Hopkins' signature, was typed on a typewriter located in Briggs' office in the interior department.

3. Several telegrams, sent to Sparks from Washington and signed with Briggs' name, were charged to Briggs' home telephone number.

The forged letter was addressed to Dr. Umphrey Lee, of Southern Methodist university at Dallas. Hopkins, in branding the letter a forgery, said he had never written Dr. Lee on any subject and didn't even know him. Dr. Lee, in turn, said he had never received any letter from Hopkins and didn't know the presidential adviser personally.

Quarter Million Trenton Fire Loss

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 21.—(INS)—Damage was estimated at $250,000 today when a five alarm fire demolished the Conner Millwork Company plant in Trenton.

Six firemen narrowly escaped serious injury when the flames, believed under control, burst out with renewed fury and trapped them in the building. Shouts of other firemen led them to a rear exit and safety. A moment later, an elevator crashed down on the spot where they had been standing.

Irreplaceable machinery and tons of lumber were destroyed in the blaze, cause of which was unknown.

PLAN DAIRY COURSE

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—(INS)—A two-day course for dairy fieldmen designed to teach practical methods for increasing Pennsylvania's milk supply to meet wartime demands opened today at the state capital.

The fieldmen taking the course are employees of milk dealers, who work directly with farmers in maintaining a steady flow of milk to processing and distributing plants. The course was arranged by the Pennsylvania Association of Milk Dealers.

Paper pennies are used in the Fiji Islands.

YOUR FEDERAL INCOME TAX

NO. 16
Members Of Armed Forces

Federal income tax returns for the calendar year 1943 must, in general, be filed with the collector of internal revenue not later than midnight of Wednesday, March 15, 1944.

However, members of the military or naval forces of the United States who, when the return is due, are on active duty outside the Americas or the continental United States (the states and the District of Columbia), or on sea duty, may postpone filing returns and making payments of tax until the 15th day of the fourth month following the month in which they cease to serve on sea duty or outside the continental United States, but not beyond the 15th day of the third month following the month in which the war ends.

The compensation paid to members of the armed forces for active service is not subject to collection of income taxes by withholding from wages. When the return is filed, credit may be taken for payments previously made on the 1942 income tax return, and for payments of estimated tax made during 1943, and the balance, if any, is payable in cash. If a serviceman has no tax due for 1943 and believes that he is entitled to a refund for taxes previously paid for 1942 or 1943, he may file an income tax return for 1943 to establish a basis for determining the amount of the refund or credit to which he is entitled.

All military and naval personnel of the United States are entitled to exclude from gross income so much of their active service pay (base pay and additional compensation for longevity and foreign or special services) received in 1943 as does not exceed $1,500. Pay received after discharge or release from active service is, however includible in gross income even though it relates to services rendered while in active service. Active service includes periods during which a person is absent from duty on account of sickness, wounds, leave, internment by the enemy, or other lawful cause, but it does not include retirement or periods in the inactive reserve.

If a member of the armed forces is not entitled to postpone filing his return or paying his tax, but finds that his ability to pay income taxes has been materially impaired because of his service, he may request the collector to grant a deferment of payment for a period extending not more than six months after the termination of his military or naval service. The application may be in the form of a letter, and may be filed with the return, or it may be submitted to the collector in answer to the issuance of a warrant for distraint. It should show the beginning date of enlistment or service, the applicant's present financial condition, and whether or not his ability to pay the tax has been materially impaired by reason of military or naval service.

It is the duty of the collector to determine whether ability to pay has been materially impaired by military or naval service, and he is authorized to require such proof of impairment of income as he may deem advisable. This proof may be required in the form of a financial statement, or in the form of an affidavit.

If the deferment is granted, no interest will be charged on the deferred tax and no penalty is incurred for nonpayment of this amount during the period of deferment. The deferment of payment does not, however, postponed the time for filing an income tax return.

If a married serviceman is entitled to postpone filing his return, his civilian wife is entitled to the same postponement if her gross income for 1943 is less than $1,200. If, however, her gross income is $1,200 or over she must file a return by March 15, 1944, unless an extension is obtained. When his period of postponement expires, he may then also file a separate return, or they may at that time elect to file a joint return, which will replace the return she previously filed.

WINTER DROUGHT

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 21.—A winter drought has gripped Erie county and other Northwestern Pennsylvania communities threatening decreased milk production and damage to seedlings, meadows and pastures, the weather bureau reported today.

Precipitation to date during January has been .13 of an inch, compared with a normal of 2.77 inches. The bureau said this followed upon the driest December in 40 years, when the precipitation was but 1.13 of an inch.

R. C. A. engineers have devised a new bomber nose test chamber which takes aircraft and electronic equipment 7½ miles into the stratosphere without leaving the ground, Radio News reports.

Tifereth Men's Club Anniversary

Installation of officers and a banquet will take place on Sunday, January 23, at the first anniversary event of the Tifereth Israel Men's club in the Tifereth Israel synagogue at 6 o'clock.

A speaker's program will be heard following the meal, with Rabbi M. Kurz of Sharon as the principal speaker.

DRAFT EVADER SENTENCED

LEWISBURG, Pa., Jan. 21—(INS)—Arthur M. Keefer of Lewistown, a member of the Jehovah Witness religious sect, began a term of two and one-half years in federal penitentiary.

He was sentenced yesterday by U. S. Judge Albert W. Johnson after he had pleaded innocent to a charge of failing to report for induction. Keefer waived a jury trial.

CORRESPONDENT LOST IN AIR RAID IS WAR PRISONER

By CHARLES A. SMITH (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Lowell Bennett, 23-year-old war correspondent of International News Service who failed to return from a Flying Fortress raid on Berlin in which he participated as an observer, is safe—a prisoner of war in Germany.

A letter from the missing correspondent, bearing the inscription "somewhere in Germany" and the date of December 11, was received in the regular mail today by Leo V. Dolan, manager of the I. N. S. bureau in London.

Bennett, who served with an ambulance corps during the Flanders campaign and covered the Tunisian campaign for International News Service after joining the organization's London staff, is a resident of South Orange, N. J.

He was reported missing on Dec. 3, a few hours after completion of a heavy American daylight attack on Berlin.

Bennett, who is 23, and two other correspondents failed to return. The British Air Ministry officially posted him as "missing in action," but hope was never abandoned that he, possibly with other members of the Fortress crew, had parachuted to safety.

Bennett's young wife, an English girl is living with the correspondent's parents in South Orange. He sent her to this country so that her second child, expected shortly, would have the benefit of American birth.

Buchalter Faces Execution Now

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Louis (Lepke) Buchalter, former executive of Brooklyn's Murder Inc., was transferred to New York state custody today to face execution on a murder conviction.

Handcuffed to a guard and surrounded by police, Lepke, who had been serving a federal term on a narcotics charge, was transferred from the federal house of detention to Sing Sing prison where he is scheduled to die the night of Feb. 10.

Must Revamp State Penal System Says Prison Reform Leader

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Pennsylvania must adopt an eight-point program to revamp its state penal system if it is to regain its position as a leader in prison reform, Maury Maverick, former Texas congressman, contended today.

In an address to the Pennsylvania prison society in Philadelphia, the chairman of the smaller war plants corporation charged the state's entire correctional system is handicapped because the Bureau of Correction is only a subordinate of the Department of Welfare. The bureau should be a separate department, he declared.

Maverick advocated a compulsory law to compel the department of property and supplies to buy from penal and correctional institutions, and urged greater emphasis on agricultural activities. He also recommended a larger parole board, with prison officials given greater voice in determining when prisoners can be released for parole.

The chairman of WPB's smaller plants corporation also charged that the paroles and pardons administration is unsatisfactory and that "obsolete" prison buildings are overcrowded.

Maverick advocated more precise classification systems, and said that both the old Eastern and the Western Penitentiaries should be dismantled, transferring the former's inmates to Graterford.

He also urged the society to work for appointment of professional experts on the State Pardon board, and said that Pennsylvania is and has been a failure in the induction of prisoners into the armed forces.

POSTPONE ARGUMENTS

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 21.—(INS)—New trial arguments in the conviction of Fayette county officials charged with alteration and falsifying of public records was postponed today until either Thursday or Friday of next week.

Deputy Attorney General James I. Marsh, of Pittsburgh, was not able to appear at the Fayette county trial today because he was engaged in a legal trial in Allegheny county.

WAVES OF U. S. BOMBERS ROAR OVER CHANNEL

LONDON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Waves of American bombers soared across the English Channel today in a virtually endless procession to batter German coastal defense emplacements along the shores of France in a crippling pre-invasion daylight assault which followed a devastating new night attack on Berlin.

The bombers of the United States Eighth Air Force were strongly supported by multiple squadrons of Spitfire fighters.

Loud explosions on the coast of France were audible from across the Dover Straits to residents of the English side.

Four-motored American craft pressed a mighty assault against the Continent upon the return to England of the greatest number of British and Canadian night bombers ever to blast Berlin. The tonnage of explosives dropped on Berlin, estimated at 2,500 American tons, was just under the record weight of bombs dropped on the Reich citadel. The seat of Nazidom was left a mass of roaring flames.

Seven Army Men Killed In Crash

POCATELLO, Idaho, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Seven army men were killed and three others injured in the crash of a heavy bomber 10 miles southwest of Pocatello air base, Lieut. Col. Marshall Bonner, station commandant, announced today.

The accident occurred Thursday after the plane took off in formation on a combat training mission. None of the victims were residents of Pennsylvania or Ohio.

REPORTS ROBIN

MERCER, Jan. 21.—The announcement of the advance notice of spring by one of its best harbiners, a robin, was confirmed today by Mrs. Archie Barber, who reports that she heard the redbreast serenading his mate as early as January 11, and that his chirping was distinctly "spring-like".

Rent Control To Be Extended

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The OPA had announced today that rent control will be extended to cover houses and apartments in five new areas February 1 because of increased war worker populations and housing shortages.

In addition, rent control will be extended on February 1 to another county in the Williamsport, Pa., defense rental area. This will be Clifton county, where the rent freezing date was set at the rates charged on March 1, 1942.

Rents for roms in hotels and rooming houses in the areas are frozen at the highest rent charge in the 30 days ending on the freeze date.

JUNIOR P.H.C. MEETS THURSDAY NIGHT

Junior Protected Home Circle No. 5 met for their regular session on Thursday, Jan. 20, at 6:30 in the I. O. O. F. hall, East Washington street, with President Florence Shaner presiding.

Junior Counsellor, Mrs. Elsie Pugh announces meetings in the future will be the first and third Thursdays of every month at 6:30. A special guest was Mr. Radford, supervisor of Sharon.

Next regular meeting will be on February 3.

Bond Buyers Slow To Secure Tickets For Soldier Show

Apparently War Bond subscribers are slow in exchanging their application cards for reserved seats for the Army show, "Pennsylvania on Parade" which plays here January 31. Postmaster William R. Hanna has exhausted his first set of yellow cards which entitle bond holders to tickets and had to get another supply. The reservations at the Pennsylvania Power company, while high, do not indicate a rush.

Persons buying bonds receive a yellow card. This card can be exchanged in the Pennsylvania Power office from one to five each afternoon and the holder of the yellow card will get a reserved seat for the show. This applies only to the evening show. The matinee seats are not reserved.

Bond purchasers who wish to see the show are asked to get their seats reserved early. The seats are going fast and the show is well worth seeing.

GIFTS TO CHICAGO U.

CHICAGO — (INS) — Gifts to the University of Chicago in the last six months of 1943 totaled $589,325, including $14,500 from the Rockefeller Foundation, for support of an ethno-history project.

Soviet Has Not Accepted Offer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull said today the Soviet government has not yet accepted the American offer of good offices in connection with the Russo-Polish crisis.

Hull evaded a direct answer to the question of whether or not the Soviet government had replied to the American offer. He said the State department is keeping in close touch with American Ambassador W. Averell Harriman in Moscow on the matter.

TWO FIRE CALLS

City firemen were called out twice Thursday evening, but found no fire, Fire Chief James E. Thomas reported today.

At 7:50 p. m. they were summoned to the home of Mrs. Jelie J. Carvella of 108 Center street, by a still alarm, where it was found the stove was smoking, filling the house with smoke. No action was required.

At 8:49 p. m. firemen answered an alarm from Box 49, but could find no fire in that vicinity.

P.H.C. NO. 5 MEETS THURSDAY NIGHT

Protected Home Circle No. 5 held their regular meeting Thursday, January 20, at 8 p. m. in the I.O.O.F. hall. Routine business plans were made for open installaltion of officers at the next meeting and a farewell party to the accountant, Mrs. Catherine Dukes, who takes up her new position February 1 as police woman of New Castle.

Special guest, Mr. Radford, supervisor of Sharon, announced the appointment of a new accountant and two new deputies for New Castle, Mrs. Florence Gillespie and Mrs. Elsie Pugh.

Next meeting will be held February 3.

Niece Of German General Purchases $30,000 U. S. Bonds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The niece of Gerd Rundstedt, the Nazi general who led the invasion into Poland, purchased $2,000,000 worth of war bonds today to help America defeat Germany.

She is Mrs. T. J. O'Mara, wife of Capt. "Pat" O'Mara, liaison officer of the Marine Air Corps, who doesn't think the world will be fit to live in until total victory is won over Germany where her father and generations before him were born.

Mrs. O'Mara, who has numerous relatives in the German army, said she hoped her purchase, announced by Fourth War Loan headquarters, would "help to wake up lethargic Americans."

Better Homes For All, After War, Says Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright—1944—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.

BABSON PARK, Fla., Jan. 21.—The ban on residential building has resulted in a pent-up demand for new houses that is unprecedented.

BABSON

Potential markets exist for at least one million units. Housing is still critical in many localities. Real estate dealers are hard put to find small homes. In co-operation with builders, however, they can look forward to merchandising the greatest residential crop of their careers. Aided by far-seeing city and suburban planning and by new techniques in construction, home owners can also look ahead—in their instance—to lower costs and greater conveniences in living.

A Word Of Caution

Much of the shortage of city dwellings is largely caused by the war. In some defense areas the peak demand has passed. There present scarcity may turn into an over-supply. But not so everywhere. Many migrant war workers from farms have occupied new, and attractively fitted up, government housing homes. Once back on the farm they are not going to be content with their old way of living. Those who have saved a few thousand dollars will want to invest in a new home. This may be a decided factor in boosting both building volume and land values in smaller and rural communities.

New residential building totals will be very large but may be spotty, geographically. All localities cannot look forward to an equal participation. Geographically, the southwest coastal states can expect increased housing activity. This is also true of New England and the northwest states. Builders and dealers should take time out now to consider carefully the prospective demand for new homes in their respective communities. Stock market booms benefit most all securities, but real estate or building booms may well be confined to certain definite areas.

The Postwar House

In pre-war years, considerable progress was made in pre-fabricated construction. Methods of insulating, heating, wiring and plumbing have been so improved during the war that the pre-fabricated house industry may make quite a showing. A recent survey covering 27,000 houses of this type shows that they can be built for from 10 to 20 per cent below the cost of the conventional house. A very large number have been built for defense workers. Many of these may be moved to new sites. This, however, is an expensive job.

As pre-fabricated house manufacturers profit from recently learned construction lessons and as the idea catches on, I expect to see a real market for houses of this type. Five or six years after the war 50 per cent of our new homes may be pre-fabricated in whole or in part. A great deal of material can be saved and these savings passed on to the home owner. It may not be long before chain stores and department stores can carry a regular line of partially pre-fabricated houses. It is as reasonable to expect that houses can be mass-produced as are automobiles.

Back City and Town Planning

Like pre-fabricated houses, there is nothing new in city planning although it is still in its infancy. The idea is maturing slowly but surely. During the war, municipalities have not had much to spend on municipal improvements. In many communities, however, planning boards have been busy preparing studies of housing, recreation and educational requirements. Many of their recommendations, designed to meet the maximum living requirements in terms of health, efficiency and convenience, will take concrete form.

Studies in planning should consider a town or city's future in relation to its state or region and even to the nation. Even a community's place and the service it might render in any new world economy should be determined. Population trends, industries, resources, available land, soil analysis, climate, transportation, sanitation and many other factors enter into intelligent city or suburban planning. It should represent much more than an efficient lay-out of streets, parks, homes, business area and educational or municipal services. My readers should get acquainted with their local planning board members. They are not a municipal luxury; they can stabilize real estate values by bringing better people to your community and making everyone healthier, happier and more prosperous.

MACHINE-GUN BULLETS HIT NEW JERSEY TOWN

MILLVILLE, N. J., Jan. 21—(INS)—Terrified Millville residents realized with relief today that New Jersey was not the victim of an enemy attack.

At least 200 machine-gun bullets zipped into streets and homes of the town yesterday, narrowly missing pedestrians and damaging nine houses.

Embarrassed army officials explained the bullets came from a machine-gun on a grounded plane at the army air base four miles away. Captain Lawrence Davis, acting base commander, said an investigation is being made to determine why the gun was fired.

The army sent a crew of carpenters to make repairs on the damaged homes.

NEWS AND VIEWS AT CAPITAL

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—President Roosevelt's recommendation for a 33,920-mile network of modern highways was advocated by the late Walter A. Jones of Pittsburgh, former chairman of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission. Jones outlined a nationwide network of super-highways in 1941 comparable to the 160-mile express highway stretching between Harrisburg and Pittsburgh in western Pennsylvania. Jones, who poured all his energy into guiding the construction of the turnpike, pointed to the need of a system of trunk highways to relieve traffic-clogged roads and accelerate transportation between the eastern seaboard and the middle west.

The department of property and supplies has opened its annual war an thousands of starlings that have decided to make the Rococo architecture of the state capitol their winter home. Shotguns are being discharged to keep the birds on the move and eventually frighten them into leaving their new home. Several years ago more than 100,000 starlings descended upon the capitol and officials desperately sought measureh to force the birds to abandon their night time haunts. Suggestions ranging from the use of electrical wires to roman candles and spreading molassas were received. The continuous banging of shotguns, however, did the trick.

Potter was the only county out of 67 to escape highway fatalities during 11 months of 1943, according to a state police report. In the previous year, the only fatality-free counties were Sullivan and Cameron. The report, which disclosed 1140 persons were killed in highway accidents during the January-November period, revealed that Potter, Pike, Forest and Cameron counties have not had pedestrian deaths since 1941.

Gov. Edward Martin believes that the current stage of the war is more fateful than when General Washington spent the winter at Valley Forge or when General Meade awaited battle with the Confederate army at Gettysburg. He has carried the analogy further and said the time was more tense than on the eve of the bloody Argonne battles or when American troops landed in North Africa. He said his administration was committed to around-the-clock efforts to speed the end of the war while planning a better state for veterans when they return home. The governor said we must avoid "reckless living and careless greed" in the postwar era.

County maps usually issued by the state highways department have been withdrawn from general distribution at the request of army authorities. Chief Engineer C. H. Buckius checks the propriety of every request. Closest scrutiny is given to requests for maps of heavy industrial areas where sabotage might be carried out. Maps of counties where there are few or no war industries are distributed with little trouble.

Urges Authorities To Let Up On Coal Bootleg Operators

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Mayor Bernard Samuel today urged federal authorities to let up on the "bootleg" coal operators so that Philadelphia might have a sufficient supply of fuel.

The mayor issued a statement after conferring with officials of six cities and towns in the hard coal region regarding means of increasing anthracite production.

"It was suggested," he said, "that the operators, the so-called bootleg operators and the solid fuels administrator agree on some procedure to increase the supply in this area."

Other southeastern Pennsylvania communities also felt the coal shortage pinch. At Easton, Mayor Joseph Morrison declared a state of emergency until March 1 and said out-of-town coal dealers would be allowed to come into the city and deliver coal free of tax during the emergency.

ST. JOSEPH'S GROUP INSTALLATION TONIGHT

This evening at 7:30 o'clock installation of officers and delegates of St. Joseph's Young Ladies Sodality will take place in St. Joseph's church, Rev. Fr. John M. Unger, spiritual director, in charge.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will bring the services to a close.

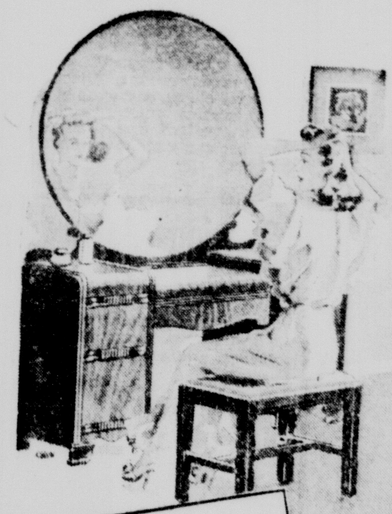

Motion pictures of the installation of Bishop McFarden of the Youngstown diocese, will be shown afterwards during the social period by Helen Hannon of St. Mary's Sodality.

CHARGE MISBRANDED DRUGS

McKEESPORT, Pa., Jan. 21.—(INS)—Carlos W. Jones was under arrest today under $1,500 bond on charges of selling misbranded drugs in interstate commerce. The charges were based on an investigation conducted by the federal food, drug and cosmetic department.

Major League Clubs May Train In Military Bases

Landis Okays Plan; Rest Up To War Chiefs

Commissioner Says Baseball Will Cooperate; Stresses Transportation Ban

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(International News Service Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—After a period of polite evasion, in which the footwork on both sides was exceptional, K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, gave a guarded form of approval today to the proposal that the major leagues do their spring training this year at military bases.

The judge wasn't actually an unwilling witness. He simply did not wish to speak for any part of a war with which he has no official connection.

"If the military authorities in Washington signify that such a project fits in with their plans," said he, cautiously, "then I think you can say for baseball that it won't be lacking in co-operation."

At the same time, however, the judge put the firm and unqualified kibosh on any idea that, even with governmental sanction, the clubs would thus be in a position to return to Florida, Texas and California. Not, anyhow, until after the war.

North Camps O. K.

"In the first place," he declared, "I was informed many years ago by such authorities as Connie Mack and the late John McGraw that there was no real reason why ball clubs couldn't be adequately trained in the north. In the second, I do not propose to have athletes during a war lolling about on the sands of some semi-tropical climate.

"In the third place," said the judge, "when I was on my way from the station last year to consult Mr. Eastman, director of ODT, the car I occupied was shared by a full complement of in-coming travellers, including a soldier who'd boarded the train more than 14 hours before in South Carolina. He'd stood up all night in a day coach.

"Before Mr. Eastman had posed the question, there was my answer to war time baseball transportation. It still is."

So, if the clubs work out on diamonds at military bases...providing for the men in uniform one of the top billing peep-shows of the entertainment world, instead of for a lot of gaping oafs...it will be done only within the prescribed geographical limits of the Eastman-Landis code. And then only, of course, at the whim and will of official Washington.

Four Junior Loop Tiffs On Saturday

Four more Junior Church league games will be played on the Y.M.C.A. hardwood, Saturday afternoon starting at 4:15 o'clock.

The First Presbyterians and Trinity meet in the opener followed by the Highland U. P. and Croton at 6:15; Third U. P. and First Christians and Epworths vs. Central Presbyterians.

'Canes-Brighton Play Here Tonight

Local Dribblers Seek First Sectional Win; Contest Starts At 8:15

Defeated in their first three Section 3 skirmishes, New Castle high's dribblers bid for their first league victory tonight on George Washington junior high's court, battling New Brighton high at 8:15 o'clock.

Today's standing shows the localities in last place along with Ellwood City. By topping the valley quint, the Bridenbaughmen can pull the Brightons into the bottom post.

Mathematically, New Castle still can cop the crown provided Aliquippa and Ambridge do an about face and the 'Canes capture all their remaining "3" contests.

The local starting lineup probably will be unchanged with Andrews and Bob Jackso at forwards; Wimer at center, and Bob Preston and Lewis at guards. Second stringers slated to make up the 'Cane varsity squad next season likely will see considerable action.

New Castle's classy reserves, defeated only once this season, appear in a preliminary starting at 7.

Cage 'Sitdown' Plan To Be Tried Tonight

CHICAGO, Jan. 21. — (INS) — The aggressive basketball player is going to get a break tonight—for one game, anyway—when Marquette and DePaul try Coach Bill Chandler's three-minute "sitdown" plan rather than banishment for committing four fouls.

Chandler, cage coach of Marquette University, has high hopes for his "brain child" and the only way the test could flop would be for all players in the game to be so unaggressive that they fail to comit four fouls.

"My proposal provides that after a fourth foul has been called on a player, he must sit on the bench for three minutes before becoming eligible to re-enter the game," Chandler said. He hurried to explain that the rule is not a penalty. For the player may be replaced for the three minutes by a substitute.

Fannins Capture Inaugural 92-32

K. Pulaski Cagers Victims; Dart, Thomas, Wainio Swish 53 Markers In Record Breaker

In a game that kept the scorers busier than welders in a Navy yard, the Fannins opened the 1943-44 season by breaking a record, walloping the K. Pulaski quint by a 92-32 count, last night on K. Pulaski floor.

After piling up a 28-21 first half lead, the star-studded Fannins hit fielders from all directions to set a new scoring high for the season.

Jimmy Dart, ex-Slippery Rock star, played the leading role with 20 points. "Zeke" Wainio, former Ne-Ca-Hi cager, and Thomas shared the balance of the spotlight.

Telesz, Smith and Hnat divided honors for the K. Pulaski aggregation.

Lineup:

K. Pulaski	Fg.	F.	Tl.
Smith, f	3	1	7
Telesz, f	5	1	11

Purdue-Michigan To Clash Tonight

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Week-end basketball competition in the Big Ten will break up the quadruple tie that now exists for first place.

Two of the four undefeated teams will go into action tonight, with the fast-breaking Purdue Boilermakers, victors in four previous games, clashing with Michigan at Lafayette, and Iowa entertaining Illinois, the defending champions, at Iowa City.

Also clashing tomorrow night will be Northwestern and Ohio State, the other two undefeated teams in the race.

Wampum-Bessemer Tilt Top Game Here Tonight

Crucial Section 21 Conflict At Bessemer; Mt. Jackson Faces East Brook

Bessemer high reaches the make or break stage tonight when the cementers play host to Wampum high's Section 21 leaders in the top clash of the evening locally.

Deadlocked for second place honors with three wins and a loss, the Bessemerites must set back Wampum if they hope to remain in the title running. The Indians are on top with five successive triumphs and another victory will bolster the Hennonmen's chances immensely in view of the fact that Wampum faces the Cementers later at home.

In and Out Form

Thus far, Bessemer has displayed in and out form, winning seven and losing six. On their "on" nights the Cementers are hard to beat. Proof of this was established when the Bessemerites faced New Castle, losing 29-26. Later, Bessemer surprised the tough Sharpsville high cagers. Last week, however, the Mercer countians evened the count. A stunning setback by Shenango, 30-26, was a jolt to Bessemer's title dreams.

Both quintets have standout performers. Bessemer has size, talent and stamina. Kresevich, Johnson and Donaldson rate as general all-around aces. Forward Mehocic, ailing with an ankle injury, will handicap Bessemer.

Wampum's one-handed pitchers have played consistently good ball throughout, losing twice—both times to Ellwood City. Bennett, Marich, Scala, Grinnen and Sawor, the starting lineup, are unusually clever. Offensively, the Indians shoot one-handed and pot shots that amaze and befuddle opponents.

The game should prove a tight affair with the Indians gaining their sixth win.

Jacks Favored

Mt. Jackson high should remain in second place by virtue of a win over oft-defeated East Brook high on the Brook hardwood. The Brookers haven't been able to ring up a sectional success this far and hardly figure to upset the dope. The Mounties have considerable class.

Undaunted by their recent loss to Mt. Jackson, Shenango Township bids for its fourth sectional conquest when the Wildcats entertain Union Township high.

Shenango is playing unusually good ball, having put together a five-game winning streak before dropping close decisions to Wampum and Mt. Jackson. The Cats appear to have too many guns for the Scotland Laners.

New Wilmington tries to even accounts with a non-league adversary, Brookfiedl, in a road tilt.

Short and Sweet

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. — Whether Bill Hulse can fit his running style to the sharp turns of indoor tracks is expected to be determined Saturday night when Gunder Hagg's shadow runs against Jim Rafferty and others in the Metropolitan A. A. U. mile. . . . Experts say that Hulse's long stride will kill his chances indoors. . . . For precedent they go back to John Woodruff, erstwhile Pitt star, who ran all over the track indoors trying to make the turns or to straighten out after passing them . . . Hulse, however, proved last summer to be the greatest miler outdoors this country has produced. That should be the real test . . . indoor running is artificial.

Aside from Joe Louis, the biggest hit in sports (or in show business) in the last decade is Sonja Henie. . . . The secret of her success, aside from her grace and skill as a skater, can be found in the cast she employs and in the artistry of her productions. . . . Also her act is one of the few to be found in show ousiness and in sports that appeals to all classes and all ages. . . . Of course, she's gorgeous to look at, too.

New York Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers are having a minor disagreement over night baseball . . . The Giants wisely insist that seven games under lights are ample because in the past they have proved to be flops aorund her. . . . The Dodgers, represented by brother Branch Rickey, insist on playing the full string of 14. . . . It is fortunate for the people who believe in afternoon baseball that they didn't get a new deal like the one slated for St. Louis. . . . They will play 42 night games out there.

Appointment of Pants Rowland as president of the Pacific Coast League is interpreted to mean that the far west circuit will make a determined bid for representation in the major leagues when the war is over. . . . Rowland reportedly is an advocate for big league franchises at one or two west coast spots. . . . Ed Levy, the former Rollins College fellow who did such a good job at Newark last summer, is coming up to the Yankees for another outfield tryout next spring. . . . He tried out as a first sacker with the Yankees in 1942.

The Sammy Angott-Beau Jack non-title 10-rounder is going to be a Madison Square Garden sellout. . . . Beau Jack probably will be the favorite. . . . Both fighters are hard at work for an event which actually has a grudge angle. . . . Each is recognized as a champion, Angott in N. B. A. territory and Beau Jack here, with the result that they really will level against each other. . . . A good fight undoubtedly would bring a re-match with the titles on the line.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

There is fun in trapping, and one has an exhilarating feeling when he traps a cunning fox or a sneaky mink or weasel. It is not easy to catch such killers as these animals, and the amateur soon gives up. It is necessary to study their habits if they are to be caught. They must be fooled into moving across the spot where a trap lies concealed by dry grass or some other camouflage, according to Seth Myers. Of course, there are certain laws which prohibit several old-time methods of trapping in this state and the trapper should make sure of the legal methods and law. He must have his traps tagged with his name and address, and every one of them should be so marked they may be identified if stolen. To be a successful trapper one must know the proper care of pelts. An old-timer can show a youthful trapper how to properly skin and stretch the skin for drying.

Old Time Sportsmen To Meet January 27

Annual Dinner Of Sportsmen Over 50 To Be Held At Sylvan Heights

Old time sportsmen, which means every sportsman over 50 years of age, will gather for their annual dinner and program in the Sylvan Heights golf club on Thursday night January 27th, and the indications today were that the crowd this year would pass that of 1943.

The old timers get together each year, lay away a lot of hot groceries, listen to a number of good speeches and then spend the rest of the evening recalling that day when they lose a 24-inch trout, or a 15-point deer, or blew a 6-inch putt for a 71.

Every old time sportsman over 50 who can make it will probably be there. Youngsters of 45 will have to get their thrill from the banquet vicariously, or second hand if you want it in back room English.

Penn State-Army Boxers To Clash

Coach Leo Houck Says Berths Wide; Squad Loaded With Talent

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. Jan. 21—Only Apprentice Seaman Billy Cochran, McKeesport, appears to have his berth on the Penn State boxing team clinched as the Lions approach their first meet with Army at West Point Saturday.

Cochran, a Navy V-12 trainee, is a hard-hitting 135-pounder who already has demonstrated his ability to give and take with the best in his class. The McKeesport youth formerly fought as an amateur in the Pittsburgh district.

The other berths on the team are still wide open, according to Coach Leo Houck, who anticipates line-up changes from week to week throughout the coming campaign. Navy V-12 trainees are in the majority on the squad, although there are also several civilians who show promise.

Gridders On Squad

Footballers seeking places on the team include Cass Sisler, a heavyweight from Western Reserve; Chuck Klausing, former Wilmerding high athlete; and Bill Zeffiro, Pittsburgh, a homebred who played football as a civilian and last fall, as a marine trainee. Klausing and Zeffiro are in the 155-pound bracket.

Still other prospects include Mike Sweeney, 175-pound intramural champion, Jack Moran, a 165-pounder, and Bill Maloney in the 155-pound division. All are marine trainees who formerly attended John Carroll University in Cleveland.

Franklin Indians Defeat Mahoning

Franklin Indians scored a 23-7 victory over the Mahoning Five, in a game played on Franklin floor yesterday.

Pete Richards and Don Hudson featured for the winners with 13 points between them. Goad was high scorer for the losers. Mahoning was held scoreless in the first two periods.

New Catholic Loop Begins Play Tonight

In addition to the grade school and catholic leagues now functioning at the Catholic center, another circuit opens tonight, the Rev. Fr. Francis Paul King, of St. Mary's church and moderator of the center, announced today.

The third loop will be known as the Catholic Reserve league, comprised of boys in the 16-years-of-age class.

Churches represented:

St. Vitus, St. Joseph, St. Philip and James, St. Michael's, St. Johns, Madonna, St. Lucy's and St. Mary's.

Four games will be played every Friday night at 7, 8, 9 and 10 o'clock.

WESTMINSTER TRAINER

Jack Hulme, veteran Penn State athletic trainer, formerly filled a like position at Westminster college.

SPORTS RAMBLINGS

Shootin' the sports breeze:----

Unbounded commendation is due officials of St. Mary's Catholic Center. In a note to this office, Mike Donovan, one of the moguls, announces that the downtown court is available to any local team desiring to use the gymnasium. The cost? Not a red or dime-like penny. The association has adopted such a move for several reasons: to alleviate the shortage of playing courts in the city; to provide entertainment; to help increase interest in the sport and to furnish a basketball court for teams unable to rent one because of financial reasons. From my nook, I say "thanks" for all a lot of kids who will benefit . . . .

Gerald Allen, who always had his finger in the sports pie until he joined the soldier line, is home for his first furlough. The popular athlete, 30 pounds lighter, is stationed at Camp Gruber, Oklahoma . . . . Pvts. Joseph J. Ludwicak, Nick J. LaVecchia and John Howard have penned a joint letter sent from Sheppard Field, Texas. The trio is studying aviation mechanics and soon will be graduated. The localites "wish everybody back home the best of luck and health" . . . .

Local bowlers soon will be called upon to join the Bowlers' Victory Legion. All money realized through this national campaign is dumped into a fund used to purchase games, cards and recreational facilities for servicemen . . . Several communications reaching this desk go to great length in praising the basketball ability of Pete Panella, brother of "Buzz", Ne-Ca-Hi footballer . . . BACK THE FOURTH WAR LOAN CAMPAIGN . . . .

Cy Blanton, ex-Philly pitcher, wants to be a traffic cop. He probably got that idea while watching all those runners, zig-zagging around the basepaths while tossing for the Phillies . . . The St. Louis Cardinals already have been selected by the newswriting guys to pick up the National banner this season . . . And Frankie Frisch predicts the Buccos will finish in the first division again . . . Rhode Island State, the team that scores points faster than an adding machine can add 'em, is paced by Ernie Calvery. The ace cager was discharged from the Army because of a heart murmur . . . DON'T FORGET THE FOURTH WAR LOAN DRIVE . . . .

Madonnas Garner Third Straight Win

Madonnas boosted their winning streak to three in a row by defeating Sacred Hearts, 36-20, in a fast game played on K. Pulaski floor.

Waloman and Boronski featured for the winners while Keller starred for the losers.

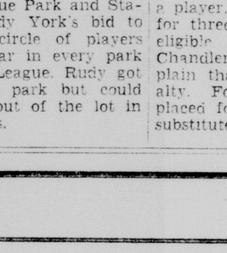

O. K. ON ROAD

Two American League clubs—Cleveland and Washington — hit more homers on the road in 1943 than they did in their home parks. At home, Cleveland had 16 circuit clouts, as against 39 away, while Washington made nine, compared to 38 on the road.

CHAMP IN GEORGIA

Don Miller, winner of the 1943 NCAA 155 lb. boxing title, is at Fort Benning, Ga., in an infantry training regiment.

Aluminum Workers To Seek Pay Boost

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The Aluminum Workers of America, C.I.O., has served notice that it intends to ask the war labor board today to guarantee retroactivity of wage increases won in present negotiations with the huge Aluminum Corporation of America.

The union set yesterday as the retroactivity date. Proposals placed before the company included a 15-cent hourly increase in minimum pay; a basic hiring wage of 95 cents hourly; abolition of incentive pay bonuses, and a guarantee of 40 hours work per week, the year around.

The company requested two weeks' time to study the demands. It indicated also that it did not agree with the union's request for the retroactive pay arrangement.

Guild Attractions An Aid To Morale

Three Outstanding Events Are Listed This Winter On Concert Guild Program

Season ticket sales for the Metropolitan Concert Guild are increasing daily, it was said today, but the total of sales thus far is not sufficient to underwrite the cost of the course which is to be presented. This year's course contains better attractions than have ever been presented, at a cost much less than ever before.

The first attraction, the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, is a world-wide favorite. With a complete symphony orchestra, the ballet is a complete organization and has been secured for New Castle because of an open date in this part of the country. It plays here January 31.

Culture aids morale in a community, and the three attractions listed upon the course this year are of high cultural value. The second attraction is Thomas L. Thomas, baritone, who has come to the fore in the musical world in the past three years.

The last attraction is Luboshutz and Nemenoff, a piano team that is known from coast to coast. The three attractions come at a cost of $3.50, plus tax, for adults, $2. plus tax, for college students, and $1. plus tax, for high school students. In Pittsburgh the cost of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo alone is almost the price of a season ticket here.

Season tickets may be secured in the Greater New Castle association office, from members of the service clubs or from one of the various Guild teams now selling subscriptions.

E. Lackawannock

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper Evans and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Osborne were business visitors in Pittsburgh on Wednesday.

Mrs. D. B. Cosgrove of Wampum and sister, Mrs. G. C. Martin of New Wilmington were Saturday afternoon visitors at the home of their mother, Mrs. Joseph Bowen.

Arthur Garrett is moving his saw mill to the Roy Moose farm, where he will saw out some lumber for Mr. Moose.

Mount Pleasant Grange met at its hall on Friday evening. State Deputy W. A. Elder and daughter of Coolspring Grange, and Mrs. Betty Milner and Mrs. Jane Christy of Pleasant Valley installed the new officers for the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Paden McConnell were week-end visitors at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert McConnell, north of Mercer. Mr. McConnell will leave for the Army on February 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Osborne and daughter, Ruth Ann, spent Sunday afternoon at the home of her father, J. N. Uber, at Blacktown.

Roy N. Moose left Tuesday morning to attend the Jersey Breeders' meeting and the state farm show at Harrisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Anderson and Mrs. F. M. Anderson were Sunday afternoon visitors at the home of the latter's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Shaw, at Volant.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde White of New Castle spent Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Rotgaber.

Miss Naomi Masters and brother of New Castle, and Mr. and Mrs. Russel Rodgers were Sunday afternoon visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Anderson.

STIMSON ONLY SMILES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Secretary of War Stimson smiled when a reporter at his weekly news conference asked whether Gen. Douglas MacArthur would be retired when he reached the statutory retirement age of 64 on Jan. 26.

"There has been no change in his status," Stimson commented.

He recalled that MacArthur was retired with the rank of general at his own request on Dec. 31, 1937, and later was recalled to active duty.

"I would not worry any further about that," Stimson concluded wryly.

It is reported that human hair gathered from barber shops in Germany is being made into hats, thus finding its way back to the head.

AUTO DRIVER SENTENCED

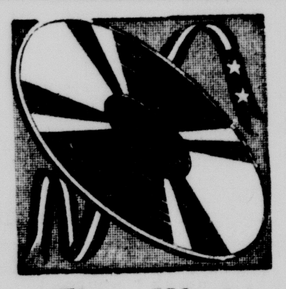

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Charles Campoll 18, was under a one-year prison term after pleading guilty to involuntary manslaughter charges in connection with the automobile death of Robert E. Henry, 14, last May 14.

In sentencing the youth, Judge Frank P. Patterson said:

"Young people must be made to understand they will be punished. This boy had no occasion to drink wine and beer and then drive his car at reckless speed that resulted in the death of companion."

Henry died of injuries after their car crashed into a tree.

Rails Rise Slightly; Industrials And Utilities Are Easy During Morning

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The stock market was mixed today, with industrials and utilities easing slightly and rails rising fractions to more than a point. Losses in the industrials were generally fractional, and a few issues even managed to move against the trend.

Trading quieted down after a moderately active opening. Sales then ran at about the same pace as yesterday.

Atchison was the big feature of the carriers, rising more than a point in active dealings. Smaller gains were noted in Southern Pacific, New York Central and Great Northern pfd.

Oils, building shares and foods were slightly easier in the industrial list, while steels, amusements, communications and motors were steady. American Distilling was up about a point in the liquor group, while Celanese was firm in the specialties.

Aviations continued in fair demand, while merchandising and mail order shares were mixed and narrow. American Bosch was higher.

Railroad liens continued to move higher in bond dealings.

Legal Notice

The undersigned City Clerk of the City of New Castle will receive proposals until Monday, January 24, 1944, at 10:00 A. M. for the furnishing to the City of New Castle of public liability insurance to indemnify the City of New Castle against all damage which the City may have to pay for or on account of injuries suffered by any person or persons because of the failure or neglect of the City of New Castle to perform any duty which it owes to the public in regard to any streets, parks, buildings, lands, public places or other property (except automobiles) owned by or under the control of the said City.

Bids may be submitted and proposals made for the furnishing of public liability insurance against loss, either to persons or property or for both. All policies of insurance to be furnished must be on standard forms approved by the Department of Insurance of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and those insuring against personal injuries shall be for the limits of Ten and Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars, and those for property damage shall be for damages to the amount of Five Thousand Dollars.

All policies shall indemnify the City against the payment of any damages and also against the cost and expense of defending suits for such damage. The Council reserves the right to reject any or all bids and in determining what proposals shall be accepted, if any, the Council shall consider the rate of premium, the form of the policy, the coverage of the policy, and all other things in the proposals which may affect the welfare of the said City.

Each proposal to be accompanied by a specimen copy of proposed policy.

All such proposals should be in writing and sealed, and shall be opened at a meeting of the Council of the City of New Castle at 10:00 A. M. on the morning of Monday, January 24, 1944.

C. ED. BROWN, City Clerk.

Alderman Faces Damage Suit In Harrisburg

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 21.—(INS)—A warrant issued by an Ohio justice of the peace was the basis today for a $5,000 damage suit against a Harrisburg, Pa., alderman.

Paul J. Smith, attorney, charged false arrest and imprisonment of his client, Charles R. Coble, of Harrisburg, by Alderman George K. Richards. He said Richards ordered Coble's arrest on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace J. K. Armstrong, of Ashland county, O., on non-support charges. As a result, in default of $500 cash bail, Coble was imprisoned last Oct. 11 for two days.

Following a hearing, the Dauphin county court held that Ohio had no jurisdiction over Coble and that he could not be extradited. Coble in his suit contended his reputation was damaged by reason of his arrest and jail confinement to the extent of $3,000 and he also asked an additional $2,000 punitive damages for what he alleged was malicious arrest and imprisonment.

Neshannock Falls School Pupils Make War Effort Record

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 21.—"The Little Red Schoolhouse" may be almost a thing of the past, but when it comes to helping win the war, it's right out in front.

In a current local scrap drive, 12 pupils of the Neshannock Falls school in four hours collected from back doors and yards of homes in the little village 1121 tin cans, brought them to the schoolhouse and crushed them.

Last year, the same school with 26 pupils taking part, received $103.60 for scrap collected, and turned over the entire amount to the United War Fund.

SAY, WHO WAS THAT MEANIE?

AN ANTI-"CHEESECAKE" EDICT has gone forth from the war department to U. S. Army newspapers, advising them to go lightly with the lightly clad girls they have used to brighten up their pages. Virginia Mayo, one of the favorite "cheesecake" girls, above, thinks someone in the war department is an "old meanie." (International)

FOR SERVICEMEN ONLY

LOOKING AT YOU through a St. Valentine's wreath of roses is lovely Sara Ann McCabe, musical comedy singing star. She sent copies of this photo as a St. Valentine's Day greeting to 500 servicemen. Sara urges everybody to mail their greeting cards early. (International)

TEDDY, JR., MODERN ROUGH RIDER

ANOTHER ROOSEVELT is also a "Rough Rider." Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., liaison officer to the Canadian Expeditionary Forces in Italy, sits on the bumper of his Army jeep, to read his mail. U. S. Army Signal Corps radiophoto. (International Soundphoto)

THEIR CAPTIVES, SAY GERMANS

THESE are British and American troopers marching to a prisoner-of-war camp after being captured on the fighting front in Italy, if the German caption on this picture is to be believed. The picture was published in the Nazis' propaganda magazine "Signal." (International)

Eye Catcher

EVER ALERT in their fight against malaria, U. S. Marines at a South Pacific base use this life-size pin-up girl on a billboard as a reminder to look for holes in their sleeping nets through which malaria-carrying mosquitoes might enter. Such a pictorial warning attracts the leathernecks' attention much quicker than a plain sign. U. S. M. C. photo. (International)

Yanks Kick In

"SYMPATHETIC" YANKS at an Eighth Army Air Force fighter station in England kicked in with a donation of $2.05—the extra nickel for a cup of coffee—and sent it to Mrs. Gloria Vanderbilt Di Cicco, above, after she had declared in a New York court that she "just couldn't make a go of things" on the $135,000 she had to live on in 1943. (International)

BULLSEYE—RIGHT TO THE HEART

THIS DEAD JAP was one of the first enemy soldiers to fall just after the Yanks had invaded Cape Gloucester, New Britain. An American marksman's bullets hit him in the heart as he sniped from the edge of the jungle at the invading forces. U. S. Coast Guard photo. (International)

BUSINESS GAINS

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Reflecting gains in production and in trade, business activity in the Pittsburgh district stood at 173.4 for the week ended January 15, the bureau of business research reported today, in comparison with 138.4 for the preceding week.

The University of Pittsburgh research group pointed out that although some classifications increased less than seasonally, there was some gain in the steel operating rate and a marked contra-seasonal gain in coal output.

TWO SENTENCED FOR FIRE

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Glenn F. McBurney, 51, of Pittsburgh, and Ralph Vore, 28, of Zanesville, O., were sentenced to two to four years each today in connection with the burning of an outdoor bowling alley on Sawmill Run boulevard.

McBurney was released on bond after his attorney filed notice he would appeal to the Superior Court. Vore was remanded to jail pending transfer to the penitentiary. Judge Sara M. Soffel pronounced sentence after denying the pair a new trial.

SEEKS TO RECOVER $1,500

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 20.—(INS)—Mrs. Geraldine L. Morgan of Beaver was seeking today to recover $1,500 from Fred Knauf, Greenville farm equipment retail dealer, because of alleged excessive prices he charged her for used machinery.

The action, a suit filed in federal court, is under the emergency control act and is the first of its kind here between individuals. The act provides triple damages for excessive price charging.

Mrs. Morgan claims she paid $500 in excess for a used tractor.

TRUE-FALSE QUIZ ATTACKED

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., 21—(INS)—The true-false quiz was attacked today by Dr. D. S. Mead, professor of English literature at Pennsylvania, as "dangerous" because a student is often penalized for thinking.

In addition, he asserted, it is hard, in many subjects, to phrase alternatives that are either absolutely true or false.

On the other hand, he said, the written test promotes personality, giving the student an opportunity to express himself.

WORKERS GO ON DIET

ILLIOPOLIS, Ill. — (INS) — A new "Lose - Two-Pounds-A-Week" club has been established by the medical department of the Army Ordnance Plant at Illiopolis. Mainsprings prescribed diet for each individual and a chart on which to record progress of dieters.

Paper pulp once used for fringed lamb-chop holders is now going into bombs, balloons, bandages and V-mail blanks.

RARE PRAISE INDEED

NEW YORK — (INS) — Brooklyn city prison, better known as the Raymond street jail, which has been denounced as "antequated" by many Kings county grand juries in the last two decades, finally has received praise. The December panel handed up a presentment to Kings County Judge Nathan R. Sobel, declaring that "the entire jail was found to be very clean and sanitary."

PLANT IS BURNED

GLADDEN, Pa., Jan. 21.—(INS)—Fire today destroyed the Protective Products company plant, manufacturer of composition siding shingles, at Gladden, South Fayette township.

Damage was estimated at $25,000. The plant employed about 50 persons, it was reported.

Firemen from Bridgeville, South Fayette township and Baldwin township fought the flames in the corrugated iron building.

RIP SEWELL NEGOTIATES

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—President William E. Benswanger of the Pittsburgh Pirates today reported he had word from Rip Sewell, "blooper ball" hurler, and that they are "working together" on a contract for the coming season.

Benswanger refused to discuss the situation further than that, however, pointing out that Sewell was of the opinion that the negotiations were "strictly between employer and employe".

CHARGE RENT VIOLATION

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21—(INS)—An information was filed in federal court today by OPA against Roscoe L. Lauffer, Jr., and Bessie Lauffer, of R. D. 2, Jeannette, charging them with receiving rents in excess of those provided by government ceilings.

They were said to have received $65 a month for a house since January, 1943, when the OPA maximum for the dwelling was $40.

PLACED ON PROBATION

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Thelma Kimmel, of Arona, Westmoreland county, a war plant inspector, was placed on probation for one year today after pleading guilty to unlawful possession and transfer of gasoline coupons.

Miss Kimmel told the federal court she got three sheets each of C and T coupons for an unidentified man for $3 and gave them to a third person.

First Wife Of Williams Found

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Mrs. Mabel Macher Williams, first wife of Frank Starr Williams, who had been erroneously reported to be missing, was located today in a Front Royal, Va., nursing home.

Mrs. Mary Burrus, matron at the nursing home, said that Mrs. Williams had arrived there a week ago, suffering from hardening of the arteries, and that she had been there constantly since that time.

She was originally wed to Frank Starr Williams, state department attache, whose second wife was fatally shot in a Chicago hotel.

LEAVE FOR CAMP VISITS

Mrs. Joseph McKim, Jr., Mrs. Robert McKim and daughter, Betty, of North Beaver, and Mrs. Archie Stewart, of Little Beaver, left Tuesday to visit their husbands who are located in army camps. Mrs. Robert McKim and daughter will visit in Williamsburg, which is near where her husband is located at the Navy Seabee Camp Perry and also relatives in Richmond, Va. Mrs. Stuart will visit her husband in a North Carolina army camp. Mrs. Joseph McKim will continue on to Florida where her husband is located in an army camp.

NOTES

Add Beaver Township—7

Mr. and Mrs. Ethan E. Russell wishes to thank the men who came to their farm and cut their corn, husked and shredded same, a day recently. Mr. Russell who is recovering now from a serious attack of pneumonia appreciates the thoughtfulness of the neighbors to harvest and store his corn crop.

Mrs. W. Guy McCown of Big Beaver township who has been quite ill, is slowly improving now in the Providence hospital in Beaver Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Duff of Big Beaver were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Paden of Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Miller Jr. visited relatives in Pittsburgh over the week-end.

A refinishing of hardwood furniture and upholstering furniture was the work of a group of women at the home of Mrs. John Brittain of Big Beaver a day recently. Miss Mae Kemp of State College and Miss Josephine Simpson, Lawrence County Home Economics worker directed the work.

WOMAN'S BODY BURNED

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—A body was burned today when flames broke out in the establishment of James Lowrie & Sons, northside funeral directors.

Wayne Carroll of Avalon was asleep when he heard crackling flames. He was able to move another body from the threatened area, but could not take out the casket of the woman from the flames.
